

Customer Relationship Summary

(March 17, 2022) – LexAurum Advisors, LLC - ADV Part 3 – Form CRS

Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand the differences. We are an investment advisor and provide advisory accounts and services rather than brokerage accounts and services. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisors, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services to retail investors. We can provide investment management and financial services.

- Investment Management. We will offer you investment advice on a regular basis and regularly monitor your account(s). We will contact you (in person, by phone or email) at least annually to discuss your portfolio. You can choose an account that allows us to buy and sell investments in your account without prior authorization (a “discretionary account”) or we may give you advice and you can decide what investments to buy and sell (a “non-discretionary account”). We do not impose account value minimums, although our independent financial professionals may choose to do so. We do not limit our financial professionals to proprietary products or a limited menu of products and types of investments.
- Financial Planning. We provide one-time or ongoing financial planning services where we offer you advice in areas such as education funding, retirement and estate planning, risk management, and employee benefits and tax planning. If you choose a one-time plan there may be no further communication between us. If you choose ongoing planning, we will contact you at least once a year in person, by phone or email.

For additional information, please see Items 4 and 7 of our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure.

Conversation Starters: Ask your financial professional:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

Investment Management. Quarterly fees you pay for investment management services are generally based on total assets under management (AUM) at a rate negotiated on a case-by-case basis. Some investments (such as mutual funds and variable annuities) impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time. You may pay a transaction fee when we buy and sell an investment for you, but not when purchasing U.S. exchange-listed stocks and exchange traded funds (ETFs). In lieu of a transaction fee, you may instead pay the custodian an asset-based fee based on account size. The custodian may also charge you a fee on nonstandard assets (such as non-traded investments).

Financial Planning. Fees you pay for financial planning are quoted in advance and charged at a fixed amount (paid in lump sum, monthly or annually) or based on an hourly rate. Fees will vary based on complexity of the services and are negotiable.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

For additional information, please see Item 5 of our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we are required to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

The more assets there are in your account, the more you will pay us in fees. We therefore have a financial incentive to encourage you to increase the assets that we manage.

Our firm provides a standardized managed account service known as the Golden Rule Program (GRP). For GRP managed accounts, the firm does not retain any fee from your financial professional's portion of the overall expense as the firm would for non-GRP accounts. This creates a conflict of interest, as accounts managed by your financial professional, or by a third-party manager, earn your professional less money. You are made aware of the fee options in advance and are not obligated to use any management option.

Our custodians also make available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you. These products and services assist us in administering our clients' accounts and business. This may include investment research, back-office support, educational conferences and events, and consulting. This may give us an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with a custodian based on our interests rather than yours, which is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of custodians and brokers is in the best interests of our clients, and is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of services provided and not the custodians' services that benefit only us.

For additional information, please see Items 5, 10, 11 and 14 of our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional:

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial service professionals receive a portion of the total fees received by the firm. This creates a conflict of interest because our financial professionals have an incentive to encourage you to transfer assets into your accounts and recommend our advisory services to you.

Some of our professionals may also be registered representatives of Brokers International Financial Services LLC, a securities broker-dealer. As such, these professionals, in this separate capacity, will be able to effect securities transactions and will receive separate customary compensation for them. They may also receive marketing distribution fees (also called "12b-1") from investment companies for placing funds with them.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

Firm – no. Financial professionals – yes. Visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research our firm and your financial professional.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional:

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?

Additional Information. We encourage you to seek additional information.

For additional information on our services, see our Form ADV brochure on IAPD on Investor.gov or on adviserinfo.sec.gov and any brochure supplement your financial professional provides. If you would like additional, up-to-date information or a copy of this disclosure, please call us at 913-735-5391.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional:

- Who is my primary contact person? Is he or she a representative of an investment adviser or a broker-dealer? Who can I talk to if I have concerns about how this person is treating me?

Item 4 – Advisory Business

LexAurum Advisors, LLC (CRD # 283653) (LexAurum) is registered as an investment adviser with the Securities Exchange Commission. LexAurum is based in Kansas and is organized as a limited liability company under the laws of the State of Kansas. The firm was formed in 2016 and currently has 10 employees working with the principal office.

LexAurum's principal office and place of business is located at 16010 Metcalf Avenue, Suite 101, Overland Park, KS, 66085. Regular business hours are Monday through Friday by appointment. The firm can be contacted by phone at (913) 261-9316 and by fax at (844) 853-0766.

Peter W. Hughes is the firm's majority owner and Chief Executive Officer. Jon M. Stanfield is the firm's Chief Compliance Officer.

Services Offered:

Investment Management Services

LexAurum provides ongoing discretionary and non-discretionary portfolio management services to individuals, families, and businesses. For investment management engagements, accounts may be managed by the client's investment adviser representative, by the firm's Chief Investment Officer, or by sub-advisers or third-party managers to whom investment management responsibility may be delegated.

For accounts managed by the client's investment adviser representative, the firm representative not only makes recommendations related to investments, but also implements these recommendations and provides ongoing monitoring and reporting. Clients may elect to give the firm discretion to make all decisions (discretionary management) or may prefer to approve all decisions before implementation (non-discretionary management).

For an account managed by the firm's Chief Investment Officer, LexAurum provides a standardized managed account service known as the Golden Rule Program (GRP). GRP is a diversified asset-allocation program which offers eight different models, ranging from "Capital Preservation" on one end of the risk spectrum to "Aggressive" on the other. Client accounts are positioned in one of these models based on their investment objective, risk tolerance, time horizon, and other characteristics. GRP accounts are invested primarily in low-cost ETFs, but mutual funds, closed-end funds or other investment vehicles may be used in certain situations. The Golden Rule Program is managed by Peter Hughes, CFA, President and Chief Investment Officer of LexAurum.

When accounts are managed by a sub-adviser or third-party manager, the sub-adviser or third-party manager is generally responsible for security selection, and LexAurum is responsible for general oversight. Engagements can either be discretionary or non-discretionary in nature.

Investment Advisory Services

LexAurum also provides ongoing investment advisory services to individuals, families and businesses where the firm makes ongoing investment recommendations, but the client is responsible for determining whether to implement recommendations, and if they decide to do so, are responsible for actual implementation.

Financial Planning Services

Additionally, the firm provides project-oriented and ongoing financial planning services to individuals and families where the firm offers advice or other strategic assistance in areas such as education funding, retirement planning, estate planning, risk management, employee benefits planning, tax planning, etc. When engaged to provide financial planning assistance, clients are responsible for determining whether to implement a recommendation, and if they decide to do so, are responsible for actual implementation. The actual details of an engagement vary on a case-by-case basis depending on the complexity of the client's financial situation. Generally, however, an engagement involves identification of goals and objectives, collection and analysis of data, formulation of a strategy, and preparation of a written plan. Engagements may be one-time, annual, or ongoing.

Retirement Plan Services

LexAurum also provides retirement plan services to businesses which may include plan level services such as discretionary management services, non-discretionary management services, and investment advisory services related to different types of retirement plans. When providing management services, the firm is responsible for implementing recommendations. When the firm is providing advisory services, the client is responsible for implementation of recommendations.

Department of Labor Acknowledgement of Fiduciary Duty. As a registered investment adviser, the firm is required to meet certain fiduciary standards when providing investment advice to clients. Additionally, when the firm provides investment advice related to a retirement plan account or an individual retirement account (IRA) we are considered fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. As such, we are required to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours, even though our compensation creates some conflicts with your interests in that the more money you have us manage, the more we can earn. In summary, under this special rule we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Adopt and follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in a client's best interest;
- Charge a reasonable fee for our services; and
- Offer basic information about any conflicts of interest.

Investment Management Services (Discretionary) Using Pontera

LexAurum also provides a service for accounts not held in our custody, but where we do have discretionary authority. These are primarily 401(k) accounts, 403(b) accounts, 401(a), Thrift Savings Plan (TSP), HSAs, and other assets held at other custodians. LexAurum will never have direct access to Client log-in credentials. Pontera and LexAurum are not affiliates and LexAurum receives no compensation from Pontera for using its platform. Clients will receive a link allowing them to connect their account(s) to the platform. Once established, LexAurum will review the current allocations. As required, LexAurum will rebalance the account considering the client's investment goals, objectives, risk tolerance, and current economic and market factors.

Clients will pay the specific quarterly fee for services indicated on the written management agreement. A certain percentage of this fee, 25 bps, will be paid to Pontera for the use of its platform. Although this fee is not directly passed along to the client, its presence may affect LexAurum's willingness to negotiate its fees, and therefore impact the overall fee to the client.

Regardless of the services provided, each is tailored to the individual needs of a particular client (whether an individual, a family, or a business) through an assessment conducted prior to an engagement. Clients may impose restrictions related to the level of discretion granted, the types of investments used, etc. Terms of an actual engagement, including description of service, limitations and restrictions, fees, etc., are all detailed before any engagement begins in a written client agreement.

The firm does not provide a “wrap fee” program, although sub-advisors or third-party managers recommended by the firm may do so. For information regarding such programs provided by outside managers, please refer to the applicable outside manager’s ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure which is available upon request.

As of 12/31/2022, the firm had approximately $604,128,786 in assets under management, $511,849,208 of which was managed on a discretionary basis and $92,279,578 was managed on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

Investment Management Services

Fees charged for discretionary and non-discretionary investment management services may be charged in arrears or in advance and are generally based on total assets under management at a rate negotiated on a case-by-case basis depending on the engagement. The firm’s maximum fee schedule is as follows:

Market Value of Assets Under Management	Annual Fee
Up to $2,000,000	2.00%
$2,000,001 - $5,000,000	1.50%
Assets over $5,000,000	1.25%

As mentioned in Item 4 above, the firm provides a standardized managed account program (GRP), and in these cases, accounts are assessed a fee by both the firm and the investment adviser representative. The combined GRP fee however will be at or below the firm’s fee schedule reference in the preceding paragraph. For GRP managed accounts, the firm does not retain any fee from the investment adviser representative’s portion of the overall expense as the firm would for non-GRP accounts. This creates a conflict of interest, as accounts managed by the investment adviser representative, or by a third-party manager, are subject to a lower payout ratio. However, clients are made aware of fee options in advance and are not obligated to use any particular management option.

Fees are generally deducted directly from client accounts on a quarterly basis (when possible), but clients may elect to alternatively pay fees by check, ACH or directly from another LexAurum account.

Services may be terminated at any time by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party, and fees will be prorated accordingly. Any payments made in advance will be prorated and refunded to the client.

All management fees paid to LexAurum are separate and unrelated to any fees or expenses assessed by mutual funds or exchange traded funds, or to any trade commission charged by an account custodian. Sub-advisory fees and third-party management fees are generally collected by the third-party firm. They remit a portion of the fee to LexAurum. All fee details however are provided in the client agreement and/or other applicable documentation. Information pertaining to fund-generated fees and expenses can be found in mutual fund and exchange traded fund prospectuses.

In instances where clients are referred to a third-party manager, the client will pay the third-party manager for services and LexAurum may receive a referral fee. The receipt of referral fees creates a conflict of interest in that LexAurum and or its representatives may have an incentive to make a referral based on its own financial interests. In these cases, however, the client will receive additional information about the referral arrangement and fees paid in advance and will not be obligated to use the manager's services.

LexAurum fees related to assets managed using Pontera will not be below 0.25%. Fees charged for these services will be based on a flat percentage of assets under management, usually billed in advance on a quarterly basis and calculated on the fair market value of the account on the last business day of the billing period. Fees will be prorated if opened mid-quarter. Clients will authorize LexAurum to debit the fees directly from one or more of the Client's taxable accounts, on a pro-rata basis. LexAurum will invoice the client directly in the event of insufficient funds in the account(s).

Investment Advisory Services

Fees charged for advisory services may be charged in advance or in arrears depending on the service provided. Fees are quoted in advance, generally range from .50% to 1.50% annually and may be negotiable. Fees are based on a percentage of assets under management, or the actual services provided. Fees may be deducted directly from client accounts and sometimes are billed directly.

Services may be terminated at any time by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party, and fees will be prorated accordingly. Any payments made in advance will be prorated and refunded to the client.

All advisory fees paid to LexAurum are separate and unrelated to any fees or expenses assessed by any broker, custodian, or other outside party.

Financial Planning Services

Fees charged for financial planning services are quoted in advance and charged at a fixed amount or are based on an estimated number of hours at a fixed hourly rate. Quoted fees will be based on the complexity and level of service provided on a case-by-case basis. As mentioned above, services may include planning in areas such as education funding, retirement planning, estate planning, risk management, employee benefits planning, tax planning, etc. Since each of these areas can vary in complexity depending on the complexity of the client's financial situation, cost will vary as well. Fees are negotiable depending on the circumstances of the engagement, location, etc.

Fees are generally billed directly to the client in advance, although a portion of which may be billed in arrears.

Services may be terminated at any time by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party, and fees will be prorated based on the degree to which services have been completed. Any payments made in advance will be prorated and refunded to the client.

All financial planning fees paid to LexAurum are separate and unrelated to any fees or expenses assessed by any broker, custodian, or other outside party.

Retirement Plan Services

Fees charged for retirement plan services may be charged in advance or in arrears depending on the service provided. Fees may be fixed, or asset based (not to exceed 1.50% annually) and are negotiable depending on the complexity of the service. Fee levels (whether fixed or asset based) are primarily based on actual services to be provided.

Fees may be deducted directly from client accounts on a quarterly basis, or clients may elect to alternatively pay fees by check or wire transfer. There is a minimum annual fee of $1,000 per plan, although the minimum may be waived at the firm's discretion.

Services may be terminated at any time by either party with 30 days written notice to the other party, and fees will be prorated accordingly. Any payments made in advance will be prorated and refunded to the client.

All retirement plan fees paid to LexAurum are separate and unrelated to any fees or expenses assessed by any broker, custodian, or other outside party.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

LexAurum does not charge performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client), and consequently does not simultaneously manage performance based and non-performance-based accounts.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

LexAurum provides services to individuals and institutional investors including businesses, retirement plans, foundations, endowments, etc.

For its services, LexAurum does not require a minimum dollar value of assets for establishing or maintaining a client's account, but the firm reserves the right to decline engagements for various reasons including account size.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

When providing investment management services, investment strategies may be established by LexAurum's Chief Investment Officer, may be established by representatives of LexAurum under the oversight of LexAurum's Chief Investment Officer, or may be established by outside managers to whom management may be delegated.

LexAurum's general investment strategy whether accounts are managed by the firm's Chief Investment Officer or by the firm's investment adviser representatives, is to attempt to reduce risk and volatility by building diversified portfolios in a manner consistent with the tenets of modern portfolio theory. To implement this strategy, LexAurum and its representatives may use fundamental security methods of analysis, market trend analysis, and economic cycle analysis. While mutual funds, exchange traded funds, stocks and bonds are the primary investment vehicles used in or recommended for client accounts, we may also use or recommend various other investment vehicles in the implementation of our strategies, including long-term purchases (securities held at least a year), short-term purchases (securities sold within a year), trading (securities sold within 30 days), margin and options.

For information regarding investment strategies and methods of analysis used by outside managers, please refer to the applicable outside manager's ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure which is available upon request.

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Such risks include market risk, interest rate risk, currency risk, political risk, government regulations, environmental issues, natural disasters and pandemics, and loss of capital, among others. Additionally, certain trading strategies can affect investment performance through increased brokerage and other transaction fees. Each client's propensity for risk, however, is thoroughly evaluated, documented, and considered throughout the portfolio implementation process.

As requested by a client, some portfolios may utilize value-based investments or Environmental, Social and Governance Funds (ESGs). Clients are reminded that ESG fund managers consider ESG factors to varying degrees and not every fund incorporates ESG factors in the same manner or degree which can make it hard to accurately compare funds. There is also no benchmark upon which ESG factors impacting investment performance can be compared. Utilizing ESG funds can adversely impact performance, fund expenses and investment risk. Any ESG recommendations are made solely using information provided by issuers.

Clients seeking exposure to cryptocurrencies, including Bitcoin, are encouraged to use traded securities whenever possible and to invest only in moderation after thorough personal due diligence. Unlike conventional currencies regulated by a monetary authority, cryptocurrencies are unregulated and highly speculative. Clients purchasing these digital assets must be prepared for potential liquidity constraints, extreme price volatility, and the complete loss of principal.

Although LexAurum intends to manage risk through the careful selection of investments, no investment strategy can assure a profit or avoid a loss. For more information about risks associated with any particular investment, please contact LexAurum directly.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to the evaluation of the firm or the integrity of its management. LexAurum is currently not subject to, nor has ever been subject to, any legal or disciplinary events of a material nature.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Some affiliated persons of LexAurum may also be registered representatives of Brokers International Financial Services LLC, a securities broker-dealer regulated by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA). As such, these individuals, in their separate capacities as registered representatives, will be able to effect securities transactions and will receive separate customary compensation for effecting any securities transactions. They may also from time to time receive 12b-1 distribution fees from investment companies in connection with the placement of client funds into investment companies. They do not, however, receive these fees for investments placed in accounts which LexAurum manages.

LexAurum may also offer clients advice or recommendations related to insurance products. Some associated persons of LexAurum are licensed insurance agents and may represent various insurance companies. Any insurance product placed through LexAurum or LexAurum associated persons may generate standard and customary insurance commissions and other compensation, a portion of which may be received by LexAurum or associated persons of LexAurum.

While LexAurum will endeavor at all times to put the interest of clients first as part of its fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of additional compensation creates a conflict of interest and may affect the judgment of individuals who make recommendations. However, our clients are under no obligation to purchase products recommended by our associated persons or to purchase products through LexAurum or LexAurum associated persons. We believe that our recommendations are in the best interests of our clients and are consistent with our clients' needs.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

Code of Ethics

LexAurum has adopted a Code of Ethics expressing the firm's commitment to ethical conduct. The LexAurum Code of Ethics describes the firm's fiduciary duties and responsibilities to clients, and details practices for reviewing the personal securities transactions of supervised persons with access to client information. The Code also requires compliance with applicable securities laws, addresses insider trading, and details possible disciplinary measures for violations. LexAurum will provide a complete copy of its Code of Ethics to any client upon request to the Chief Compliance Officer.

Trading Conflicts of Interest

Individuals associated with LexAurum are permitted to buy or sell securities for their personal accounts identical to or different than those recommended to clients. However, no person employed by LexAurum is allowed to favor his or her own interest over that of a client or make personal investment decisions based on the investment decisions of advisory clients.

In order to address potential conflicts of interest, LexAurum requires that associated persons with access to advisory recommendations provide annual securities holdings reports and quarterly transaction reports to the firm's Chief Compliance Officer. LexAurum also requires prior approval from the Chief Compliance Officer for investing in any IPOs or private placements (limited offerings).

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

We do not maintain custody of client assets. Instead, we require all client assets be maintained in an account at a non-affiliated “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. The custodian will hold your assets in a brokerage account and will be able to buy and sell securities on your behalf.

While we recommend that you use a particular custodian/broker, you will ultimately decide whether to do so and will open your account by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We cannot open accounts for you, but we can assist you in opening an account at whatever custodian/broker you decide to use.

How We Select Custodians and Brokers

When recommending a custodian or broker for our clients, we consider many different factors including quality of service, types of services offered, overall capability, execution quality, competitiveness of transaction costs, availability of investment research, reputation of the firm, and financial resources, among other things. In determining the reasonableness of a broker’s compensation, we consider the overall cost to you relative to the benefits you receive, both directly and indirectly, from the broker.

Your Brokerage and Custody Costs

Our clients receive various services directly from our custodians. For our clients' accounts that they maintain, our custodians generally do not charge separately for custody services but instead are compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades that they execute or trades that are executed by other brokers to and from custodial accounts. Custodians also receive revenue from money market funds that it makes available to clients as a cash sweep option and for accounts that choose to invest cash in such a money market fund. Fees applicable to our client accounts are sometimes negotiated based on the condition that our clients collectively maintain a certain level of assets at a particular custodian. We feel this commitment benefits you because we expect the overall rates you pay will be lower than they might be otherwise.

Since custodians often charge clients a fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer, we have the primary custodian execute most trades in order to minimize your trading costs.

We have determined that having custodians execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek "best execution" of your trades. Best execution means seeking the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above.

Products and Services Available to Us from Brokers/Custodians

Our primary custodians provide us and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage services like trading, custody, reporting, and related services, many of which are not typically available to retail customers. Our custodians also make available various support services, some of which may help us manage or administer our clients' accounts, while others may help us manage and grow our business.

Other institutional brokerage services which benefit you directly include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and asset custody. The investment products available through our custodians include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients.

Our custodians also make available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both from custodians/brokers and from third parties. We may use this research to service all or a substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at a particular custodian. In addition to investment research, our custodians may also make available software and other technology that provide access to client account data, facilitate trade execution for multiple client accounts, provide pricing and other market data, facilitate payment of our fees from our clients' accounts, and assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Our custodians also offer other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business. These services include educational conferences and events, consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs, publications and conferences on practice management and business succession, and access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers.

The availability of these services from our custodians benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. Of course, this may give us an incentive to recommend that you maintain your account with a custodian based on our interests rather than yours, which is a conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of our custodians and brokers is in the best interests of our clients, and is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of services provided and not the custodians' services that benefit only us.

Aggregation of Transactions

LexAurum may, from time to time, aggregate client orders into blocks in order to facilitate more efficient account management and execution. When aggregating orders, an average price is given to all participants in the block, or other measures are taken, in order to treat all accounts fairly.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Review of Accounts

Account holdings are typically reviewed on a continuous basis by the portfolio manager. Accounts are subject to a more general review on a periodic basis (i.e. monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, etc.) depending on the type of account. Account reviews typically involve addressing investment objectives, risk tolerances or asset allocations, but may be more detailed in scope, depending on circumstances. The level of detail of the review is generally triggered by factors such as market, political, or economic conditions, or the client's individual financial situation. Clients should notify the firm of any material personal financial changes.

Information about reviews conducted by outside managers may be found in the outside manager's Form ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure, which is available upon request.

Regular Reports Provided to Clients

In addition to the monthly statements and confirmations of transaction that clients receive from the custodian, LexAurum may provide other reports directly to the client from time to time depending on the type of engagement. Investment management clients, for example, may receive periodic performance related reports. Financial planning clients may receive a planning analysis but do not receive regular reports from LexAurum. LexAurum urges clients to carefully review custodial statements and compare them with the reports which we may provide.

Information about reports provided by outside managers may be found in the outside manager's Form ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure, which is available upon request.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

LexAurum does engage outside parties (promoters) for client referrals, but in doing so, is required to structure such referral arrangements to comply with applicable regulatory requirements, including Rule 206(4)-1 under the Advisors Act (the "Marketing Rule"). For example, the firm is required to provide referred clients with a disclosure statement which provides details, including compensation, related to the referral arrangement, and our Form ADV Part 2 brochure as well. Compensation for these arrangements is typically sharing a percentage of the client advisory fees generated. This sharing will not result in any charges to clients in addition to the normal advisory fees that would have applied.

LexAurum may also utilize testimonials and endorsements. A "testimonial" includes any statement by a current client about the client's experience with the investment advisor or its supervised persons. An "endorsement" includes any statement by a person other than a current client indicating approval, support, or recommendation of the investment advisor or its supervised persons or describes that person's experience with the advisor or its supervised persons. These marketing activities create a conflict of interest in that cash or non-cash compensation provided may motivate a person to provide a positive statement about, solicit an investor for, or refer an investor to, LexAurum. Any compensation paid will be prominently disclosed and clients are encouraged to rely only on the public disclosures provided by LexAurum and their own judgement and not the opinion of any third party in deciding whether to engage our services.

LexAurum does not receive any sales award or prizes in connection with providing advisory services to clients. LexAurum does however receive economic benefits from our custodian in the form of the support products and services that are made available to us and to other independent investment advisors. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described in Item 12 above. The availability to us of our custodian's products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

LexAurum and its representatives may also qualify for referral fees when referring clients to outside managers. These referral arrangements would be required to be structured to comply with applicable regulatory requirements, including providing clients with a solicitor's disclosure statement. Acceptance of referral fees creates a conflict of interest because the firm or its representatives may have an incentive to recommend which outside manager to use based on referral fees received. However, when referring clients to an outside manager, the firm will not only disclose compensation received but will also strive to be cognizant of the client's best interest at all times. Moreover, engagement of an outside manager is always at the client's discretion.

LexAurum may accept discounted or free travel to attend due diligence conferences or to attend or host professional conferences or client meetings. Although this support is not a material source of firm revenue, this represents a conflict of interest as LexAurum may be more likely to recommend securities from firms providing these economic benefits.

LexAurum and the law firm of Rees, Kincaid and Stanfield (RKS) have a common part owner in Jon Stanfield. He is a partner with RKS and a minority member of LexAurum. Clients of LexAurum may be referred to RKS for estate planning and other legal services. The common ownership presents a conflict of interest as one member of LexAurum has an economic interest in RKS and may benefit from such referrals in lieu of referring clients to other law firms or financial professionals. Although LexAurum and its independent advisors may recommend RKS, you are never obligated or required to use its services. There are other law firms that provide legal services like RKS and may charge lower rates. You are encouraged to consider other law firms before hiring RKS. The legal services provided by RKS are separate and distinct from LexAurum and the two entities do not share revenue with one another but may share certain expenses.

Item 15 – Custody

As noted in Item 12, LexAurum recommends that clients' assets be held by a qualified custodian. Although we do not hold assets, we may have limited control in some instances to trade on your behalf, to deduct our advisory fees from your account with your authorization, or to request disbursements to you.

You will receive account statements directly from your custodian at least quarterly, which will be sent to the email or postal mailing address you provide. LexAurum urges clients to carefully review custodial statements and compare to any account reports that we might provide. You should inform LexAurum and the custodian of any change in contact information.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

LexAurum will accept discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients, although we will also accept non-discretionary accounts.

When granted authority to manage accounts, LexAurum customarily has the authority to determine which securities and the amounts that are bought or sold or may delegate such authority to outside managers. Any discretionary authority accepted by LexAurum, however, is subject to the client's risk profile and investment objectives and may be limited by any other limitations provided by the client in writing.

LexAurum will not exercise any discretionary authority until it has been given authority to do so in writing. Such authority is granted in the written agreement between LexAurum and the client, and in the written agreement with the third-party custodian.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

LexAurum does not vote proxies on behalf of clients.

Item 18 – Financial Information

Registered investment advisers are required in some cases to provide certain financial information and or disclosures about their financial condition. For example, if the firm requires prepayment of fees for six months in advance, has custody of client funds, or has a condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments to its clients, it must provide financial information and make disclosures.

LexAurum has no financial or operating conditions which trigger such additional reporting requirements.

Re: Annual Update of Privacy Policy, Form ADV Part 2 Brochure and Form CRS

Dear Client,

As a registered investment advisor, we are required by securities laws to annually furnish you with updated information about our firm, which we detail in our firm's Form ADV Part 2 Brochure disclosure document. Your financial advisor is associated with us.

Since the filing of the firm's last annual update Brochure, we have made minor updates, but no material changes were made to the Brochure. Please note that the LexAurum home office moved to a new office at 16010 Metcalf Ave., Suite 101, Overland Park, Kansas 66085.

If you would like a complete copy of our current 2022 Brochure, you may contact me by email or phone, and I will be happy to send you a complete copy free of charge. You may also obtain a copy of the form and other information about our firm from the SEC's Investment Adviser Public Disclosure (IAPD) system at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov.

We have enclosed our firm's privacy policy (see back of this letter) and updated form CRS, a relatively new disclosure mandated by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

If you have any questions about your accounts, please contact your representative. If you have questions about LexAurum, my contact information is below.

Sincerely,

Peter W. Hughes
President, LexAurum Advisors, LLC

PRIVACY NOTICE

As required by law, we deliver a Privacy Notice to all of our clients upon establishing a relationship with them and annually thereafter, in order for our clients to understand how we use the information we gather from them.

When performing services for clients, we may collect non-public personal information including:

- Information received from you in conversations and discussions.
- Written information prepared and delivered by you to us.
- Information prepared and delivered by third parties on your behalf.

Although our own outside service providers may have access to your information for normal operational purposes (e.g., offsite electronic file storage, etc.), it is our policy not to disclose any non-public personal information about any client to other outside parties except as may be required or permitted by law, or except as otherwise detailed in this policy.

Disclosures which may be permitted may include the following:

- Instances where a client has authorized us to work with outside service providers such as attorneys, accountants, and other investment advisors.
- Instances where a client has authorized us to disclose information to third parties that assist in processing client transactions or in servicing client accounts.

Clients may opt out from our disclosing information to non-affiliated parties by notifying us by telephone, mail, email or in person.

We take our responsibility to protect the privacy of our clients and their information very seriously. In addition to this privacy policy, we maintain physical, electronic, procedural and other safeguards in order to protect all client information.

If you have any questions about our practices, or more specifically about our privacy policy, please contact us at (913) 261-9316 and we will be happy to give you additional detail.

OTHER HELPFUL TIPS REGARDING YOUR ACCOUNTS

Carefully review your account statements and trade confirmations on a regular basis. Verify the accuracy of all cash balances, securities, trades and fees. Contact LexAurum directly with any discrepancies or questions.

Use a unique and complex password for your email and financial accounts. Never click on an unknown link or email attachment that you were not expecting to receive. Never respond to emails requesting personal information. Use and update your computer security software regularly.

Be aware that advisors are prohibited from requesting or accepting loans from LexAurum clients.

Make sure you fully research and investigate your options before purchasing any cryptocurrency. Don't be fooled by unrealistic predictions of returns or unverified claims made online.

Double-check your account beneficiary designations to make sure they coordinate with your overall estate plan. Remember that beneficiary designations supersede your will.
