
Treasury Yields Prompt Concerns

Weekly Update – March 25, 2019

The Week on Wall Street

Friday, the yield of the 3-month Treasury bill exceeded the yield of the 10-year Treasury note for the first time in 12 years. For some analysts, this “inverted yield curve” may imply a short-term lessening of confidence. (Treasury yields move inversely to Treasury prices.)¹

As a result, the S&P 500 ended the week 0.94% lower. The Nasdaq Composite fell 0.80%, and the Dow Industrials lost 1.19%.^{2,3,4}

In contrast, the MSCI EAFE index following international stocks rose, gaining 0.52% for the week.⁵

Fed Sees No Hikes in 2019

On Wednesday, the Federal Reserve held interest rates steady, but lowered its estimate of 2019 economic growth to 2.1%.

Last December, the central bank forecast two rate hikes in 2019. It now expects to leave rates unchanged this year, with one quarter-point hike projected for 2020.

This pivot may acknowledge a slight change in economic conditions. The Fed’s latest policy statement noted that the “growth of economic activity has slowed from its solid rate in the fourth quarter.”⁶

Oil Hovers Near $60

At Friday’s closing bell, a barrel of West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude oil was valued at $58.85 on the New York Mercantile Exchange (NYMEX). Its value briefly climbed to $60 earlier in the week.

Month-over-month, the price of WTI crude has risen nearly 5%. Historically, higher oil prices can have a significant impact on retail gasoline prices.⁷

What’s Next

A U.S. delegation is scheduled to accompany Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin to China this week for further trade negotiations. Finally, Brexit will not occur this Friday, as the European Union has extended the United Kingdom’s deadline in response to Prime Minister Theresa May’s request.^{8,9}

THE WEEK AHEAD: KEY ECONOMIC DATA

Tuesday: The Conference Board’s latest reading on consumer confidence.

Thursday: February pending home sales, and the federal government’s second estimate of fourth-quarter Gross Domestic Product (GDP).

Friday: Reports on consumer spending and new home sales, and March’s final University of Michigan consumer sentiment index, another measure of consumer confidence levels.

Tuesday: KB Home (KBH)

Wednesday: Lennar (LEN), Lululemon Athletica (LULU), Paychex (PAYX)

Classic Tomato and Bread Soup

Serves 6

Ingredients:

1 medium onion
4 Tbsp. olive oil (divided)
4 to 6 cloves garlic, minced
2, 28-oz. cans whole, peeled tomatoes
2 to 3 bay leaves
2 cups of chicken stock
1½ cups of cubed, rustic bread (best to use day old)
1 tsp. dried oregano
Pinch of chili flakes
Approximately ½ tsp. salt, to taste
Fresh ground pepper, to taste
Freshly grated Parmesan cheese
Chopped fresh basil or parsley, for garnish

Directions:

1. Begin by adding the olive oil to a 5- to 6-qt. Dutch oven, warmed on medium heat. Sauté onions until translucent. Then, season with salt and pepper, add minced garlic, and cook for a few additional minutes.
2. Next, crush the tomatoes by hand, and transfer into the pot.
3. Add the chicken stock, bay leaves, and dried oregano. Heat to a simmer, then reduce heat to maintain a low simmer. Cook for about 20 minutes.
4. Warm up a large frying pan on medium heat and add the remaining olive oil into a sauté pan. When the oil is hot, evenly spread the cubed bread in the pan. Toss to coat with oil and brown the sides of the bread evenly.
5. After the soup has cooked for approximately 20 minutes, add the browned bread cubes. Cook for about 5 more minutes, then turn off the heat, cover the soup, and let stand for 15 minutes. Remove the lid, then extract the bay leaves and discard.
6. Set aside about ⅓ of the soup. Purée the rest with an immersion blender or pour it into a food processor and blend until smooth. Re-incorporate the blended and unblended soup. Pour into bowls and serve with grated parmesan and chopped fresh parsley or basil.

Mileage Rates Increased for 2019

Each year, the IRS issues standard mileage rates used to calculate the deductible costs of operating vehicles for business, charitable, medical, or moving purposes.

As of January 1, 2019, the rates for vehicles used for the above purposes are:

- 58 cents per mile driven for business use
- 20 cents per mile driven for medical or moving purposes
- 14 cents per mile driven in service of charitable organizations

The IRS determines the standard mileage rate for business use based on an annual study of fixed and variable costs of operating a vehicle. The rate for medical and moving purposes is based on the variable costs.

Taxpayers have the option of calculating the actual costs of using their vehicle rather than using the standard mileage rates.

Take Your Wedge into the Sand... and Beyond

Many people think a sand wedge is only for the bunker. But really, you should use your sand wedge for bunker shots and most pitch shots to the green.

It's important to remember that the sand wedge has "bounce" on the sole of the club, meaning the back trailing edge is lower than the front leading edge. When used properly, or "improperly," as the case may be, the very forgiving design built into your sand wedge could help in a variety of lies and situations.

Try using it on your short approaches instead of a pitching wedge – you may be surprised!

Collagen Regenerates and Renews

Collagen is an abundant protein in the body, which regenerates and forms new tissues, but is poorly produced and replaced as we age. Studies have shown that supplementing with collagen may yield health benefits:

- Faster exercise recovery: those who supplemented with 3 grams of a collagen extract significantly improved their exercise recovery rates.
- Help for arthritis: collagen supplements reduced pain and inflammation in people diagnosed with osteoarthritis.
- Younger-looking skin: taking 2.5 to 5 grams of collagen daily resulted in significantly higher skin elasticity as well as improved skin moisture. Additionally, women who took 1 gram of collagen extract showed a significant reduction of dry, scaling skin, reduced lines and wrinkles, improved circulation, and a significant boost in overall collagen levels in the skin.
- More benefits. Taking the supplement stimulates tissue regeneration and slows the loss of bone density.

Be sure to research the type or types of collagen to support the benefit you are seeking, and tailor the variety and dosage to your individual needs.

Clean, Green Tips for Your Business

Greening your business is not only good for the environment, it is meaningful to your customers. It shows you care about the environment, the future of the planet, and that you're doing your part to encourage others to do the same. Here's a few ways to go green in business:

Say no to waste. Provide recycling bins and encourage employees to know how and what to recycle. Use recycled paper and limit waste with reusable utensils.

Lighten up with energy-efficient LEDs. LED lights are nearly 80% more efficient than standard light bulbs. Use smart power strips and timers to maximize energy savings.

Keep track. Knowledge is power, literally, when it comes to saving energy. Set energy saving goals and keep track with energy consumption calculators you can find online.

Save water. Saving water at work is easy with water-efficient toilets, automatic taps, sustainable landscaping, and rooftop rainwater collection.
