These tools can also provide you with educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services and advice on a regular basis to retail investors. Our services include discussing your investment goals, designing with you a strategy to achieve your investment goals, and the on-going monitoring of your account. We will contact you at least annually regarding your investment portfolio. Additionally, we provide discretionary advisory services. Our discretionary authority is generally granted at the outset of our advisory relationship in our client agreement, to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold during your advisory relationship with us. We exercise such discretion in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives, limitations and restrictions imposed upon us by you. Our investment advice generally covers equities, fixed income, options, exchange traded funds, and mutual funds. Other firms could provide advice on a wider range of choices, some of which might have lower cost. We do not have any minimum requirements for retail investors to open or maintain an account or establish an advisory relationship with us.

What fees will I pay?

Principal Fees and Costs

Retail investors will incur the fees described below for investment advisory services, which are negotiated between you the client, and your financial advisor. Wrap fees are principal fees charged for our wrap fee investment advisory program. The wrap fees are asset-based fees, which are an on-going fee, and based upon a percentage of the assets managed by us. Our wrap fees include most transaction costs and fees to a broker-dealer or bank that has custody of your portfolio assets, but you may be charged other account costs such as wire transfer fees, overnight delivery fees, and other fees charged by the custodian. Since the transaction costs are included in the advisory fee, the advisory fees may be higher than a typical asset-based advisory fee charged by other investment advisers.

Our fees vary and are negotiable. The amount you pay will depend on the amount of assets in your account. Additionally, the amount paid to us and your financial professional generally does not vary based on the type of investments we select on your behalf. The asset-based fee reduces the value of your account and will be deducted from your account.

The more assets you have in the advisory account, including cash, the more you will pay us. We therefore have an incentive to increase the assets in your account in order to increase our fees. You pay our fee quarterly even if you do not buy or sell your investment assets.

Other Fees and Costs

You will also pay charges imposed by custodians such as wire transfer and overnight delivery, and other fees. Some investments (such as mutual funds and exchange traded funds) impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time.

Additional Information

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

See our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure, Items 5 and 12. as applicable and other applicable documents for additional information regarding our fees and costs.

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice that we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- Your custodian provides services to us, including research, execution, brokerage, custody and access to mutual funds and other investments. Additional services provided assist us in managing and administering clients' accounts. These services are provided based in part on the assets held at the respective custodians, and as such, creates an incentive for us to direct clients to their custodial platforms. For additional information, please see our Form ADV Part 2A, Item 14.

Additional Information

For more detailed information about our conflicts of interest, see our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure, Item 12 and 14, or Part 2A Appendix 1.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Your financial professional earns compensation based upon a percentage fee charged to clients on total assets managed. As a result, your financial professional may have a financial incentive not to reduce fees. Additionally, your financial professionals are compensated based on factors such as the amount of client assets they service, and the time and complexity required to meet a client's needs.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No, neither your financial professional nor we have any legal or disciplinary history. Please see www.investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research the background and experience of us and our financial professionals.

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
