

W. James Steen, CFP®
jim@petrafin.com

Jason A. Pearson, CFP®
jason@petrafin.com

(O) 937.294.9000

www.petrafinancialsolutions.com

It's tax season and there is a new scam going around I want you to be aware of. You might receive a phone call where the caller will say they are from the IRS, you need to pay a tax bill with a credit card immediately or you'll go to jail. This is a scam! As always, do not give any personal information on the phone. Be aware that calls of this nature are not legitimate, no matter how official they sound. The IRS will never telephone you about taxes due; they send official notices only by U.S. mail.

Now, not only are the "bad actors" impersonating the IRS, as part of their sophisticated scams they are even able to deposit something that looks like a "refund" to your bank account, then call you to demand its return. Here are some steps you can take to stay alert to fraud of this type:

- 1. If you get a call purporting to be from the IRS – or bank, credit card company, etc. – hang up. If you think the call might be legitimate (such as your bank asking about a suspicious or especially large transaction), call back immediately at the main number for the bank or other institution's website. Again, do not answer any questions or give out or confirm any personal information to an unsolicited caller.
- 2. Check your financial accounts daily. You are more likely to notice a problem if you keep tabs regularly. And be sure to watch for small transactions of a dollar, or just a few cents – these may indicate a bad actor is testing your account to see if it is vulnerable.
- 3. Set up alerts for account activity. Many financial institutions let you set up an alert (usually a text message or email) when your card is used. This can help you become aware of unusual activity quickly.

Please feel free to reach out to us if you would like more information about keeping your personal information safe. Thank you for allowing me to work with you to reach your financial goals, and I wish you continued success.

VERY RICH PLAN-
Defined benefit pension plans can be funded to produce an annual benefit at retirement as high as $220,000 in 2018, up from $185,000 in 2008 (source: Internal Revenue Service).

SAVING - 51% of pre-retirees say that their efforts to save for retirement are "behind schedule" while only 15% of pre-retirees are "ahead of schedule" (source: Society of Actuaries Risks and Process of Retirement Survey).

MAESTRO - Former Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan turns 92 years old tomorrow (3/06/18). Greenspan was the Fed's Chairman for 18 ½ years beginning 8/11/87 through 1/31/06 (source: Federal Reserve).

These are the views of James Steen & Jason Pearson. No independent analysis has been performed and the material should not be construed as investment advice. Investment decisions should not be based on this material since the information contained here is a singular update, and prudent investment decisions require the analysis of a much broader collection of facts and context. All information is believed to be from reliable sources; however, we make no representation as to its completeness or accuracy.

All economic and performance information is historical and not indicative of future results. The market indices discussed are unmanaged. Investors cannot directly invest in unmanaged indices. Securities and Advisory Services offered through Cetera Advisors LLC, member FINRA, SIPC. Petra Financial Solutions is not affiliated with Cetera Advisors LLC. Petra Financial Solutions, Inc. 3055 Kettering Blvd., Suite 218. Dayton, OH 45439.