Leslie Davis was eager to start her journey in the world of financial planning, but was quickly disillusioned with traditional brokerage firms. It's now been almost ten years since she launched True Peace Financial in Kansas City to do things differently. Leslie's big thing is helping her clients' plan from zero. “I want my clients to know that when they wake up they've got a paycheck in their bank account. . .like they've never quit working and they don't have to worry about the market needing to perform. . .I'm not risking house and home.”

Left with no money, no car, and no house, Ann Marie stepped up instead of falling apart. She went back to school and researched how to turn her situation around. A believer in injecting positivity and intentions into the universe, Ann Marie put her desires onto a vision board. She met her second husband, started a family and is currently the CEO of several companies. Yet, Ann Marie is most proud of the life balance she's created. “I want people to know – especially women – you can do this. You only get what you order. Don't be afraid to order up an amazing life.”
