Model Thesis

- Stocks of businesses that experience higher sales revenues, better profitability, and lower debt than their peers tend to attract investor's capital over time.
- Owning the stocks with these characteristics when those stocks are exhibiting positive Relative Strength Trends potentially positions a portfolio for compelling growth over time.

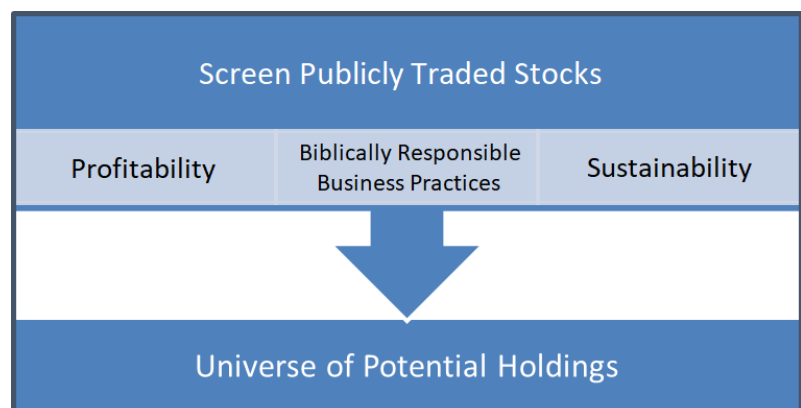

Model Strategy

1	Develop an Inventory of Investment Possibilities screened for Biblically Responsible Concerns
2	Rank each Investment Possibility by Relative Strength
3	Buy or Hold Investment Possibilities which have high relative strength at time of purchase
4	Maintain Risk Controls
5	Monitor and Reallocate as needed

An Inventory of Investment Possibilities

Our process begins with screening a broad universe of common stocks in an effort to identify companies that meet Biblically Responsible Investing criteria, and which exhibit sustainable business models, high Return on Assets relative to their peers, increasing revenues and net margins, low debt ratios, and strong capital positions. We call a company Biblically Responsible if it is either held in a major Biblically Responsible Investing fund, or if it passes a specific screening criteria. Those stocks that are identified through this process are added to an Inventory of Investment Possibilities. We describe this inventory as the Universe of Potential Holdings.

Universe of Potential Holdings constituents are ranked according to Relative Strength vs. all other constituents and vs. multiple benchmark indices.

The model seeks to purchase and hold candidates that are in positive Relative Strength Trends and sell candidates that are in negative Relative Strength Trends.

By combining robust financial screens with Relative Strength assessments, the Biblically Responsible Equity Growth model seeks to hold a portfolio of fundamentally sound companies which are exhibiting high Relative Strength and positive trends at the time of purchase.

Active Management

Model holdings are reviewed and monitored on an ongoing basis. As securities rise in value, positions may be trimmed to harvest gains. Once a company's Relative Strength begins to weaken, the model will typically begin to sell shares of that company to reduce exposure to that position.

Model diversification is achieved through effective position sizing. Strategic stop and limit orders may be utilized to further reduce risk.
