

Customer Relationship Summary

American Trust Investment Services, Inc.

August 1, 2020

This Summary relates to you our customer, and your relationship with our firm American Trust Investment Services, Inc. (“ATIS”), a registered broker dealer with the SEC. ATIS is also a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (“SIPC”). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at www.Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

ATIS offers brokerage services to retail customers. This includes buying and selling securities at your direction and providing investment recommendations. We also furnish incidental services like research and investor education at your request or as part of a recommendation we make. We offer domestic and international equities, mutual funds, exchange traded funds (“ETF”) options, fixed income securities, certificates of deposit, annuities of various types and public non-traded real estate investment trusts (“REITs”). Unless we otherwise agree in writing, we do not monitor your brokerage account, nor engage in discretionary trading for you. You always make the ultimate decision regarding the purchase or sale of investments.

For additional information please see our Regulation Best Interest Disclosure (“RBID”) on our website, www.amtruinvest.com for more specific information and discussion regarding our services.

Conversation Starters: “Given my financial situation, should I choose a brokerage service? Why or why not? How will you choose investments to recommend to me? What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?”

What Fees will I Pay?

For brokerage services, the principal fees and costs are transaction-based commissions for recommendations and execution of securities trades. Depending on the investment, commissions may be charged at the time of trade execution, and also charged on an ongoing basis (“trails”) for as long as you hold the investment. Trails are based on a percentage of the value of the investment. If we buy or sell on a principal basis, meaning we buy or sell from or to you for our own account, we mark the price of the transaction up or down to our benefit. Because we are compensated for transactions, we have an incentive to encourage you to trade more frequently and in greater amounts because we receive more revenue when we do. You will also pay fees for custodial and/or administrative services, wire and transfer fees, bank charges and other expense charges. Likewise, some expenses and fees are included in the expense ratios of certain investments like mutual funds, ETFs, annuities and REITs. Note you will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

For additional information about fees, commissions and costs for our brokerage services, please see our RBID and the list of customer account fees disclosed on our website at www.amtruinvest.com.

Conversation Starters: “Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?”

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation as your broker dealer, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

- Third-Party Payments: We receive payments from third party product sponsors and managers (or their affiliates) when we recommend or sell certain products. As such, we have an incentive to recommend (or to invest your assets in) products of third-parties that pay us over products of third parties that do not pay us, or pay us less.
- Revenue Sharing: Certain managers and sponsors (or their affiliates) share the revenue they earn when you invest in certain of their investment products (primarily mutual funds and variable annuities) with us. As such, we have an incentive to recommend (or to invest your assets in) products of sponsors and managers that share their revenue with us, over other products of sponsors or managers that do not share their revenue, or who share less.
- Principal Trading: We may buy or sell securities to you for our own account. Because we earn compensation (such as commission equivalents, mark-ups, mark-downs, and spreads) and can receive other benefits in principal transactions, we have an incentive to trade with you on a principal basis and to recommend securities that we hold in inventory.

For additional information please see our RBID on our website www.amtruinvest.com for more specific information and discussion regarding conflicts of interest.

Conversation Starters: “How might your conflicts of interest affect me and how will you address them?”

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals receive a negotiated portion of the commission you pay for trades. Factors affecting compensation include the amount of client assets serviced, time and complexity to meet client needs, the product itself and product sales commissions (i.e. differential compensation). They may sometimes receive indirect compensation from various third-party vendors. Receipt of compensation creates a conflict of interest for our financial professionals.

Do you or your financial professional have legal or disciplinary history? Yes.

Visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research us and our financial professionals.

Conversation Starters: “As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?”
