ADVISORY SERVICES (Item 4)

About Our Business

NetWorth Financial Services LLC (“We,” “Our,” the “Firm,” or “NetWorth Financial”) is a wealth management firm that provides financial planning advice and consultations alongside investment/portfolio management strategies. We are a Georgia limited liability company that began managing our clients’ investments and providing financial expertise in December of 2001. Mr. Reagan C. Curl is the principal owner and chief compliance officer for the Firm.

Types of Advisory Services

1. Financial Planning & Consulting Services

We construct financial plans to assist clients in reaching their financial goals. Our plans are developed by evaluating data relative to our client’s financial circumstances, investment goals and objectives, and tax status. When implementing our Financial Planning and Consulting Services, we employ a series of data analysis modules to compile information regarding investment planning, retirement income needs, and estate planning. We use the data compiled to make financial recommendations regarding the foregoing. Financial planning is normally included in the portfolio management services discussed below unless there is a specific request for financial planning only. We also provide one-time (or on-going) consultations for modular financial planning matters, and assessment of asset protection and risk management needs.

2. Portfolio Management Services

We offer both discretionary and non-discretionary portfolio management services and personalized asset allocation strategies to meet our client’s investment goals and objectives. Financial planning is included in the portfolio management service and is not charged separately unless only financial planning is requested. We provide investment advice regarding stocks, bonds, equities, exchange traded funds, and mutual funds. We do not limit our advice to any specific securities or strategies.

Tailored Services

Our advice and services are based on individual needs of our clients, after analyzing and thoroughly evaluating our client’s goals, objectives, investment horizon, and risk tolerance. Clients may impose restrictions on investing in certain asset classes or any specific types of securities by advising their investment advisor representative of such restrictions in writing.

Wrap Fee Programs

We are not a sponsor of, or participant in, any Wrap Fee Program(s).

Assets under Management

We currently* manage $ 62,768,711 in client assets on a discretionary basis. *Our Assets under Management calculations are as of December 2019.

The investment strategies of our firm consists of strategic asset allocation and asset diversification. Our general recommendations consist of value stocks, exchange traded funds, mutual funds, and fixed income securities for long-term growth and income.

Material Risks of Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Furthermore, although we utilize common investment analysis methods and strategies, there remains some level of material risk. We utilize fundamental analysis methods that measure the risks of companies by formulating assumptions based on historical financial representations. Although we use valid data sources, examine expense ratios, review return and risk ratings extensively, refer to economic indicators, review the implications of monetary policy, and consider management team tenure, our strategies are implemented as a result of the assumptions derived from the analysis of historical data. The results of investment strategies derived from this method of analysis are not guaranteed and past performance of investment is not indicative of future financial returns.

Notwithstanding the method of analysis or investment strategy employed by our firm, the assets within an investment portfolio are subject to risk of devaluation or loss. Please be aware that there are many different events that can affect the value of assets or portfolio holdings including, but not limited to, changes in financial status of companies, market fluctuations, changes in exchange rates, trading suspensions and delays, economic reports, and natural disasters. While this information provides a synopsis of the events that may affect your investments, this listing is not exhaustive.

We want you to understand that there are inherent risks associated with investing and depending on the risk occurrence, you may suffer LOSS OF ALL OR PART OF YOUR PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT.

As insurance agents, our investment advisor representatives receive separate, yet customary compensation for insurance product sales. In instances where our investment advisor representatives receive advisory fees in addition to insurance commissions, the compensation will be greater than if purchased separately or absent of the advisory fee component. Insurance products may be available through more cost effective channels, and clients are not obligated to purchase insurance products recommended through investment advisory representatives of our firm.

We always act in the best interest of the client; including the sale of commissionable or fee based products to advisory clients. CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION, OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING (Item 11)

Code of Ethics

NetWorth Financial, its management, and supervised persons (collectively, “personnel”) subscribe to a strict code of ethics. Our Code of Ethics is constructed to comply with the investment advisory laws and regulations that require firms to act as fiduciaries in transactions with their clients. Our inherent fiduciary duty requires that we act solely in our clients’ best interest and adhere to standards of utmost integrity in our communications and transactions. These standards ensure that clients’ interests are given precedence.

Accordingly, we have implemented extensive policies, guidelines, and procedures that promote ethical conduct and practices by all of our firm’s personnel. The foregoing has been compiled and is collectively referred to as our Code of Ethics. We adopted our Code of Ethics to specify and prohibit certain types of transactions deemed to create conflicts of interest (or perceived conflicts of interest), as well as to establish reporting requirements and enforcement procedures relating to personal transactions by our personnel.

Our Code of Ethics, which specifically deals with our fiduciary duty, professional standards, insider trading, personal trading, and gifts and entertainment, establishes our ideals for ethical conduct based upon fundamental principles of openness, integrity, honesty, and trust. We will provide a copy of our complete Code of Ethics to any client or prospective client upon request.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

We do not recommend that clients buy or sell for their accounts, securities in which a related person may have material financial interest.

Personal Trading

Proprietary Trading

We may at times, buy or sell securities for our own accounts that we have also recommended to clients. We will always document transactions that could be construed as a conflict of interest. To mitigate or remedy conflicts of interest or perceived conflicts of interest, we monitor internal trading reports for adherence to our Code of Ethics.

Simultaneous Trading

From time to time, we may buy or sell investments for our own accounts at or around the same time as clients. In any instance where similar securities are purchased or sold, we will uphold our fiduciary duty by always ensuring that transactions are beneficial to the interest of our clients.

BROKERAGE PRACTICES (Item 12)

Selection and Recommendation

We select account custodians after evaluating several factors including but not limited to, fees and expenses, capability to execute, clear, and settle trades, reputation, breadth of investment products made available, access to securities markets and expertise in handling brokerage support processes. We may also select custodians based on dual registrations and other qualifications and/or experience.

Our firm maintains a custodial services agreement with TD Ameritrade Institutional, division of TD Ameritrade, Inc. (hereinafter, “TDAI”). TDAI is a registered broker-dealer (member of FINRA and SIPC), and we are participants of TDAI’s Institutional Services platform for independent investment advisors. TDAI provides brokerage, operational support, and other custodial services to our firm.

When recommending a custodian, we evaluate the available alternatives to determine which arrangement will provide the most favorable results relative to trading costs, allocation of funds, and rebalancing of client’s investments.

Please note that NetWorth Financial is independently owned and operated and not an affiliate of TDAI.

Soft Dollar Benefits

We do receive research or other products or services (i.e., soft dollar benefits) from broker-dealers in exchange for placing trades or processing other securities related transactions for clients. All benefits received are allowable and eligible research or brokerage services under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

1. Brokerage for Client Referrals

The Firm does not receive client referrals from broker-dealers or other third parties in exchange for using any particular broker-dealer.

2. Directed Brokerage

(a) As previously stated, based on an evaluation of our client's best interest, we recommend an account custodian that will provide the most favorable results relative to trading cost, efficiency in allocation of funds, and rebalancing of client's investments.

(b) Due to existing arrangements and certain affiliations, we do not allow clients to direct brokerage.

Order Aggregation

In the normal course of business, we may block or aggregate orders for advisory accounts in order to execute transactions in a more timely, equitable, and efficient manner. Our policy is to aggregate client transactions where possible and advantageous to clients. Our policies and procedures also mandate allocating the aggregated orders to the appropriate client accounts in an equitable and expeditious manner after execution. More importantly, the transaction fees charged to each account by the applicable account custodian are not affected by this practice. The Chief Compliance Officer will review transactions periodically to detect and prevent inefficiencies that result from non-compliance with our order aggregation policies and procedures.

REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS (Item 13)

Periodic Reviews

Our criteria for reviewing client accounts are as follows:

1. Review of Financial Plans

We prepare financial plans based on the financial data that clients provide to our firm. Financial plans are reviewed according to the schedule outlining the services to be performed and the frequency of those services (i.e., a comprehensive financial plan with annual updates, etc.) by Reagan C. Curl and Robert J. Ostapower. Clients who receive comprehensive financial planning services will receive a consolidated statement at each review of the financial plan. Please note that clients are responsible for providing updates to the financial information contained in the financial plan and other confidential questionnaires.

2. Review of Portfolio Assets

We review client account portfolios no less than annually or more frequently at the request of any client. Reagan C. Curl reviews the accounts and such reviews consist of on-going monitoring and analysis to determining whether clients' portfolios and strategies continue to align with stated investment goals and objectives. If reallocation of investments is necessary, based on our advisory authority, we may sell underperforming investments or buy new investments that are more appropriate for a client's investment goals and objectives.

Intermittent Review Factors

Intermittent reviews may be triggered by substantial market fluctuation, economic, business, or political events, or by changes in a client's financial status (such as retirement, termination of employment, relocation, or inheritance). Clients should contact the Firm to initiate an intermittent review upon the occurrence of any of the foregoing events.

Client Reports

Clients will receive transaction confirmations from the account custodian shortly after trading activity (purchases or sells). Additionally, the account custodian will send monthly statements for each month in which there is trading activity. If there is no trading activity during any month, clients will receive statements quarterly. These statements will provide details regarding account activity, asset allocations, holdings, and performance.

For more information regarding the broker-dealer custodian that services our accounts, please review the Brokerage Practices section (Item 12). Our firm has indirect custody of client funds and securities because of our authorization and ability to deduct advisory fees directly from clients' accounts; nonetheless, we have implemented the safeguard requirements of state regulations by requiring safekeeping of clients' funds and securities by a qualified custodian.

Account Statements

Client account statements are mailed or sent electronically by the account custodian. Clients are advised to review account statements carefully, comparing asset values, holdings, and advisory fees on current statements to that in previously received statements, confirmations, and fee invoices.

Investment decisions are made in accordance with the client's stated investment objectives and clients may at any time during our engagement, advise us in writing of any limitations on our authority. Clients may impose limitations on investing in securities in specific industries or countries, etc., and dollar amounts or percentage of, investments in the foregoing.

There are some instances where we may exercise non-discretionary authority in managing and directing clients' investments. Under non-discretionary authority, we will seek your consultation and approval (written or oral) prior to implementing investment strategies or decisions. This is not our general practice and this authority is generally only used for clients who have specific types of accounts or receive certain services. (Please review Item 5, Other Compensation and Item 12, Brokerage Practices for information)

VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES (Item 17)

Our firm does not participate in proxy voting on behalf of clients. We may provide information for clarification of the issues presented in proxy solicitation materials; however, our clients are responsible for casting proxy votes. Clients are also responsible for directing shareholder action items relative to mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings and other type events pertaining to the securities held in accounts managed by us. Clients will receive proxy solicitations and information regarding shareholder action items, by mail or electronically from the account custodian. Clients must follow the instructions for voting or taking action as directed in the mailing or electronic delivery.

Professional Designations

CPA - Certified Public Accountant

CPAs are licensed and regulated by their state boards of accountancy. While state laws and regulations vary, the education, experience and testing requirements for licensure as a CPA generally include minimum college education (typically 150 credit hours with at least a baccalaureate degree and a concentration in accounting), minimum experience levels (most states require at least one year of experience providing services that involve the use of accounting, attest, compilation, management advisory, financial advisory, tax or consulting skills, all of which must be achieved under the supervision of or verification by a CPA), and successful passage of the Uniform CPA Examination.

In order to maintain a CPA license, states generally require the completion of 40 hours of continuing professional education (CPE) each year (or 80 hours over a two year period or 120 hours over a three year period). Additionally, all American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) members are required to follow a rigorous Code of Professional Conduct which requires that they act with integrity, objectivity, due care, competence, fully disclose any conflicts of interest (and obtain client consent if a conflict exists), maintain client confidentiality, disclose to the client any commission or referral fees, and serve the public interest when providing financial services. The vast majority of state boards of accountancy have adopted the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct within their state accountancy laws or have created their own.

Certified Financial Planner (CFP), 2006

Bob earned the Certified Financial Planner (CFP) designation in 2006. Certified Financial Planner, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the "CFP® marks") are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. ("CFP Board"). The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board's studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor's Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board's financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;

Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination, administered in 10 hours over a two-day period, includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;

Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and

Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks.
