Advisor Daniel G. Crews, Chief Operations Officer at Reed Financial Group in Snellville, GA, Will Sit on the Committee to Provide an Additional Advisor Voice for Investment Decisions

COPPELL, TX / ACCESSWIRE / JUNE 7, 2016 /

Registered investment advisory firm Precision Capital Management (PCM) has added a new member to their Investment Committee. Advisor Daniel G. Crews, Chief Operations Officer at Reed Financial Group in Snellville, GA, will sit on the committee to provide an additional advisor voice for investment decisions.

Precision Capital Management is a firm created by advisors, for advisors, and is known to be highly selective about the advisors they invite to the investment committee. These advisors must have a demonstrated track record of success, with capital preservation as the cornerstone of their success. They must share their commitment to building a client-centric wealth advisory firm focusing on the core principles of low risk, low volatility, and successful investment solutions.

The investment committee is comprised of a variety of leaders in the Financial Industry. Each has a unique educational background and specialization, and each plays an important role in continuing to raise the Precision Standard.

As a graduate of the Georgia Institute of Technology, one of the world's leading technological research universities, Crews offers the committee a unique set of skills in the areas of research, technology, and analytics.

"I feel privileged to be a part of the PCM Investment Committee," commented Crews. "The ability to bring my experience working with clients to help shape the investment decisions of Precision will give me great insight into how we can deliver an even higher level of service to our Reed Financial Group clients."

Ryan Borer, current PCM committee member and founding partner, is looking forward to working closer with Crews. "Daniel is a great selection. His commitment to the details relating to his clients' portfolios will serve the Investment Committee well."

At Reed Financial Group, Crews conducts client reviews and specializes in creating client reports and analyzing research providers. He also provides reporting software that allows clients to create customized spending and budget reports and balance sheets. Crews enjoys conducting extensive research and analysis to optimize clients' portfolios and provide solutions specific to their goals and needs. To learn more about Daniel G. Crews and his role at Reed Financial Group, visit their website at www.reedfinancialgroup.net.

"He's going to lend a critical voice to the Investment Committee, and I can't wait to hear about the role he plays and the philosophies he can bring back to our clients here," added Gary W. Reed, Founder and President of Reed Financial Group. "Daniel is the perfect addition to the group they've assembled at PCM."

Crews will join the PCM investment committee with current sitting members Jeff Cutter, Ryan Borer, Phil Kosmala and Anthony Apollaro, JR. To learn more about Precision Capital Management and their investment committee, visit their website at www.precisioncapitalmanagement.com.
