Firm Description

Kerr Financial Planning Corporation doing business as Kerr Wealth Management. Kerr Wealth Management is a Sub-Chapter S Corporation organized in the State of California.

The firm was formed in January 2014, and the principal owner is Andrew Kerr.

The firm surrendered its registration on May 18th of 2016 and re-registered in September of 2017.

Types of Advisory Services

Portfolio Management Services

Kerr Wealth Management offers ongoing portfolio management services based on the individual goals, objectives, time horizon, and risk tolerance of each client. Kerr Wealth Management creates an Investment Policy Statement for each client, which outlines the client's current situation (income, tax levels, time frame and risk tolerance levels) and then constructs an investment plan to aid in the selection of a portfolio that matches each client's specific situation. If a client utilizes financial planning services then an IPS is not required but may be requested based on the advisor's perception of client risk tolerance or personality towards market risk. Portfolio management services include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Investment strategy
- Asset allocation
- Risk tolerance
- Personal investment policy
- Regular portfolio monitoring
- Portfolio trade management and rebalancing.
- Individual security, stock, bond, ETF or mutual fund review, selection and or trading.

An IPS is not created if a client completes a financial plan because a financial plan captures the required information to create an investment portfolio.

Kerr Wealth Management evaluates the current investments of each client with respect to their risk tolerance levels and time horizon. Risk tolerance levels are documented in the Investment Policy Statement, which is given to each client and the client provides such risk tolerance information which will be the basis for an investment portfolio management approach and overall risk tolerance. Portfolio allocations may fluctuate and Kerr Wealth Management and its advisor's may increase or decrease cash in a client's portfolio based on a forward view of the market. Increasing cash may reduce earnings potential, reducing cash may increase risk.

Kerr Wealth Management seeks to provide investment decisions that are made in accordance with the fiduciary duties owed to its accounts and without consideration of Kerr Wealth Management's economic, investment or other financial interests. To meet its fiduciary obligations, Kerr Wealth Management attempts to avoid, among other things, investment or trading practices that systematically advantage or disadvantage certain client portfolios, and accordingly, Kerr Wealth Management's policy is to seek fair and equitable allocation of investment opportunities/transactions among its clients to avoid favoring one client over another over time. It is Kerr Wealth Management's policy to allocate investment opportunities and transactions it identifies as being appropriate and prudent among its clients on a fair and equitable basis over time. Kerr Wealth Management may use economic indicators or other material market factors when implementing (buying / selling). Not all client's will experience simultaneous buying or selling of their portfolio. Many factors effect a decision to buy or sell or implement a portfolio design. Kerr Wealth Management may use the same or similar stock in more than one client account. Kerr Wealth Management typically follows a handful of public companies therefore if suitable may recommend or purchase a stock, bond, ETF, mutual fund or CD or securities for more than one client. Kerr Wealth Management does not promise each client the same offer price but will do its best to purchase securities at a reasonable price given the timing, economic conditions and expectations of a stock.

Client portfolios are rebalanced on an as needed basis and are reviewed quarterly. Many factors can influence or dictate if a rebalance (buy / sell) is necessary. Factors may include, but are not limited to: economy, stock market conditions, investment advisor opinions, security information or company specific information. Depending on a clients investment policy or situation they may not get rebalanced at the same time as other clients. Clients may also get rebalanced at the same time.

Kerr Wealth Management and it's advisors may invest in securities, (ETF's, Mutual Funds, Stocks or Bonds) that client's may be invested in. From time to time Kerr Wealth Management and it's advisor's may rebalance their own portfolios before, during or after a client/s portfolios are rebalanced. This is not to create a disadvantage or advantage because we may treat ourselves and or advisor's portfolios as a client portfolio. This may create a conflict of interest as described in item 10 below.

Pension (ERISA) Consulting

Kerr Wealth Management offers ongoing consulting services to pension or other employee benefit plans (including but not limited to 401(k) plans) based on the demographics, goals, objectives, time horizon, and/or risk tolerance of the plan's participants. Kerr Wealth Management may act as either a 3(21) or 3(38) advisor:

Limited Scope ERISA 3(21) Fiduciary. Kerr Wealth Management typically acts as a limited scope ERISA 3(21) fiduciary that can advise, help and assist plan sponsors with their investment decisions on a non-discretionary basis. As an investment advisor Kerr Wealth Management has a fiduciary duty to act in the best interest of the client. The plan sponsor is still ultimately responsible for the decisions made in their plan, though using Kerr Wealth Management can help the plan sponsor delegate liability by following a diligent process.

1. Fiduciary Services are:

- Provide non-discretionary investment advice to the Client about asset classes and investment alternatives available for the Plan in accordance with the Plan's investment policies and objectives. Client will make the final decision regarding the initial selection, retention, removal and addition of investment options.
- Assist the Client in the development of an investment policy statement ("IPS"). The IPS establishes the investment policies and objectives for the Plan. Client shall have the ultimate responsibility and authority to establish such policies and objectives and to adopt and amend the IPS.

Client understands Kerr Wealth Management's assistance in education of the Plan participants shall be consistent with and within the scope of the Department of Labor's definition of investment education (Department of Labor Interpretive Bulletin 96-1). As such, Kerr Wealth Management is not providing fiduciary advice as defined by ERISA 3(21)(A)(ii) to the Plan participants. Kerr Wealth Management will not provide investment advice concerning the prudence of any investment option or combination of investment options for a particular participant or beneficiary under the Plan.

- Assist in the group enrollment meetings designed to increase retirement plan participation among the employees and investment and financial understanding by the employees.
- Meet with Client on a periodic basis to discuss the reports and the investment recommendations.

Kerr Wealth Management may provide these services or, alternatively, may arrange for the Plan's other providers to offer these services, as agreed upon between Kerr Wealth Management and Client.

Kerr Wealth Management would then become solely responsible and liable for the selection, monitoring and replacement of the plan's investment options.

1. Fiduciary Services are:

2. Non-fiduciary Services are:

- Assist in the education of Plan participants about general investment information and the investment alternatives available to them under the Plan. Client understands Kerr Wealth Management's assistance in education of the Plan participants shall be consistent with and within the scope of the Department of Labor's definition of investment education (Department of Labor Interpretive Bulletin 96-1). As such, Kerr Wealth Management is not providing fiduciary advice as defined by ERISA to the Plan participants. Kerr Wealth Management will not provide investment advice concerning the prudence of any investment option or combination of investment options for a particular participant or beneficiary under the Plan.

- Assist in the group enrollment meetings designed to increase retirement plan participation among the employees and investment and financial understanding by the employees.

Its security analysis is based upon a number of factors including those derived from commercially available software technology, securities rating services, general economic and market and financial information, due diligence reviews, and specific investment analyses that clients may request. Registrant also draws upon investment information, certain analyses and data research to provide investment advisory services. Registrant's selection of asset classes is driven by research into global asset classes, economic data, fund company data, various industry sources and view of the economic environment.
- B. Registrant's Investment Strategies: Registrant's investment approach is based on the belief that markets are "efficient," meaning, that the market of buyers and sellers tends to price an asset quickly and fairly, based on the currently "known" information. Investor portfolios should be determined principally by asset allocation decisions and may include various individual stocks, bonds or other securities to accomplish asset allocation. Registrant does not forecast business cycles or interest rates. There are no strategies for automatically shifting allocations among stocks, bonds, and cash. Registrant's strategy for each position is designed to capture the return behavior of an entire asset class. Generally, Registrant's investment selections involve nonactively managed, asset class ETF's or mutual funds and individually selected stocks or other individual securities. Registrant believes that these assets are most likely to deliver asset class returns and have the added benefit of low internal costs. Occasionally, Registrant will include mutual funds managed on a non-passive basis.
- C. Registrant primarily allocates from asset classes such as Large U.S. Stocks, Small U.S. Value Stocks, Short-Term Bonds, and International Stocks. Such classes may be an EFT, Mutual Fund or individual stock or bond. Each asset class has its own risk and return characteristics. By allocating investments among the several asset classes, Registrant seeks to reduce the overall volatility of a portfolio and enhance returns. The asset classes selected and the percentage weighting given each class profoundly affect the overall volatility and expected return of a portfolio. Registrant seeks to determine efficient weightings for each client's portfolio in order to maximize the probability of achieving the client's long-term objectives while minimizing short-term risk. The registrant also adheres to client requests which may require the selection of a security not chosen by the registrant.

D. Investment Risk. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and it should not be assumed that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy (including the investments and/or investment strategies recommended or undertaken by the Registrant) will be profitable or equal any specific performance level(s). Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. The registrant's at Kerr Wealth Management make no promise, guarantee or warranty of any investment performance whether good or bad.

Methods of Analysis

Kerr Wealth Management's methods of analysis may include fundamental analysis, technical analysis and modern portfolio theory (MPT). Kerr Wealth Management and its advisor's use stocks, bonds, mutual funds, money market, cash, REITS and ETF's. Kerr Wealth Management and its advisors may use one or all of the following methods when managing client portfolios and may use one, some or all of the various securities mentioned.

Fundamental analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages.

Multifactor Strategy is a theory used to target specific behavior within a broad range of asset classes including, value, momentum, minimum volatility, size and quality.

Modern portfolio theory is a theory of investment that attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, each by carefully choosing the proportions of various asset.

Technical Analysis is a process that involves using charts, historical performance data, PE and EPS ratios, averages, trends and all relevant information.

Investment Strategies

Kerr Wealth Management uses short term, long term trading and options trading (including covered options, uncovered options, or spreading strategies).

Investment Strategy and Method of Analysis Material Risks

Methods of Analysis

Strategic Models – uses a variety of ETF's, mutual funds and or stocks or a combination of all three or a combination of just one type of security with an objective of creating a diversified portfolio tailored to a client's particular risk profile. Strategic models can have all equities or all fixed income or a blend of both equity and fixed income. Models do not guarantee a safer investment, a return or the risk of loss of principal.

Active Management – is the process of selecting and managing individual securities i.e. stocks, bonds, ETF's or mutual funds. Kerr Wealth Management will actively with discretion design, trade (buy / sell) securities on behalf of the client.

Fundamental analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Multifactor Strategy concentrates on factors in attempt to improve portfolio allocation, reduce cost by taking a passive approach and take advantage of various strategies. We use mutual funds and ETFs from various fund companies to implement a multifactor strategy. Multifactors or single factor ETF's or Mutual Funds typically act as a replacement or addition to a portfolio to add a layer of asset class and style diversification.

Modern Portfolio Theory assumes that investors are risk adverse, meaning that given two portfolios that offer the same expected return, investors will prefer the less risky one. Thus, an investor will take on increased risk only if compensated by higher expected returns. Conversely, an investor who wants higher expected returns must accept more risk. The exact trade-off will be the same for all investors, but different investors will evaluate the trade-off differently based on individual risk aversion characteristics. The implication is that a rational investor will not invest in a portfolio if a second portfolio exists with a more favorable risk-expected return profile – i.e., if for that level of risk an alternative portfolio exists which has better expected returns.

Investment Strategies

Kerr Wealth Management's use of options trading generally holds greater risk, and clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any of those strategies.

Short term trading is designed to capture short term market opportunities but does involve greater timing risk or potential risk of incorrect judgement. Other risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Long term trading is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Due to its nature, the long-term investment strategy can expose clients to various types of risk that will typically surface at various intervals during the time the client owns the investments. These risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Options transactions involve a contract to purchase a security at a given price, not necessarily at market value, depending on the market. This strategy includes the risk that an option may expire out of the money resulting in minimal or no value, as well as the possibility of leveraged loss of trading capital due to the leveraged nature of stock options.

The methods mentioned above does not imply that we always use all methods at one time or that we always use a particular method.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Security Specific Material Risks

Kerr Wealth Management's use of options trading generally holds greater risk of capital loss. Clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any investment strategy. The investment types listed below are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.

Equity investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate in response to specific situations for each company, industry conditions and the general economic environments.

Fixed income investments generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, leveraged loans, high yield, and investment grade debt and structured products, such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal. Risks of investing in foreign fixed income securities also include the general risk of non-U.S. investing described below.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): An ETF is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, similar to stocks. Investing in ETFs carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). The funds can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.

Areas of concern include the lack of transparency in products and increasing complexity, conflicts of interest and the possibility of inadequate regulatory compliance.

Real Estate funds (including REITs) face several kinds of risk that are inherent in the real estate sector, which historically has experienced significant fluctuations and cycles in performance. Revenues and cash flows may be adversely affected by: changes in local real estate market conditions due to changes in national or local economic conditions or changes in local property market characteristics; competition from other properties offering the same or similar services; changes in interest rates and in the state of the debt and equity credit markets; the ongoing need for capital improvements; changes in real estate tax rates and other operating expenses; adverse changes in governmental rules and fiscal policies; adverse changes in zoning laws; the impact of present or future environmental legislation and compliance with environmental laws.

Annuities are a retirement product for those who may have the ability to pay a premium now and want to guarantee they receive certain monthly payments or a return on investment later in the future. Annuities are contracts issued by a life insurance company designed to meet requirement or other long-term goals. An annuity is not a life insurance policy. Variable annuities are designed to be long-term investments, to meet retirement and other long-range goals. Variable annuities are not suitable for meeting short-term goals because substantial taxes and insurance company charges may apply if you withdraw your money early. Variable annuities also involve investment risks, just as mutual funds do. Kerr Wealth Management Does not provide or sell annuities. We only provide annuity review services. From time to time Kerr Wealth Management may advise a client to terminate an annuity if it is determined that the client is not getting the performance results they need or thought they would receive. It may also be determined that surrendering an annuity may be beneficial for an investor if their needs have changed or they find a more cost effective alternative with the potential for greater returns. Clients are never guaranteed greater returns. Surrendering an annuity may or may not result in surrender penalty fees that can cause principal loss. It is up to the client to make a final decision about their annuity and said client acknowledges they may or may not lose money by surrendering their annuity.

Options are contracts to purchase a security at a given price, risking that an option may expire out of the money resulting in minimal or no value. An uncovered option is a type of options contract that is not backed by an offsetting position that would help mitigate risk. The risk for a “naked” or uncovered put is not unlimited, whereas the potential loss for an uncovered call option is limitless. Spread option positions entail buying and selling multiple options on the same underlying security, but with different strike prices or expiration dates, which helps limit the risk of other option trading strategies. Option transactions also involve risks including but not limited to economic risk, market risk, sector risk, idiosyncratic risk, political/regulatory risk, inflation (purchasing power) risk and interest rate risk.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Investing in any investment and securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Material Relationships Maintained by this Advisory Business and Conflicts of Interest

General Conflicts of Interest Disclosure

Virtually any and all recommendations provided by Kerr Wealth Management are a conflict of interest because recommendations would result in compensation. Nothing is free of conflict. In general - almost any fee charged by Kerr Wealth Management can be and should be considered a conflict of interest. Recommendations are a conflict of interest because we charge a fee for doing so. Further, any service for a fee can be and should be considered a conflict of interest because virtually all services provided by Kerr Wealth Management may be provided at a cheaper price elsewhere. Investment recommendations do not guarantee a positive return and investors can lose principal and may see their principal values fluctuate due to market conditions.

The following recommendations can present a conflict. This does not include all possible recommendations. If a recommendation is not listed below in the general list of general services; you acknowledge that whatever advice or service rendered is and should be considered a conflict of interest.

Rollover recommendations, held away account charges, annuity surrender, life insurance surrender, asset management, opening an account with one of our custodians, insurance recommendations, tax recommendations, insurance recommendations, administrative recommendations, planning recommendations, 529 recommendations, investment management recommendations, custodian recommendations, broker dealer recommendations, transfer recommendations, estate recommendations, pension recommendations, fund recommendations, security recommendations, 401k administrator recommendation, general investment advice, Kerr Wealth Management and it's advisors use of similar or exact securities (Stocks, ETF's, Mutual Funds, Bonds etc), paying for any service provided by Kerr Wealth Management that may be cheaper from another provider.

Andrew Thomas Kerr is a licensed insurance agent with Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc., and from time to time will offer clients advice or products from those activities. Products could include: term life insurance, health related insurance or commercial property and casualty insurance. Clients should be aware that these services pay a commission to Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. or other compensation and involve a conflict of interest. Commissionable products conflict with the fiduciary duties of a registered investment adviser. Kerr Wealth Management always acts in the best interest of the client; including the recommendation of commissionable products to advisory clients. Clients are in no way required to utilize the services of any representative of Kerr Wealth Management in connection with such individual's activities outside of Kerr Wealth Management. Should a client choose to voluntarily use insurance services of Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. that are not part of an advisors recommendation, Kerr Wealth Management and it's advisors are not considered to be providing advice as this would be a voluntary request by a client. In general an insurance product or solution is recommended when a client is under or over insured for a period of time or amount. Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. is a separately owned entity by Andrew Kerr, owner of Kerr Wealth Management and any activity at Kerr Insurance Brokers, inc. that does not involve a Kerr Wealth Management client or should a Kerr Wealth Management client contact Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. and purchase any products or services of Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. without Kerr Wealth Management and it's advisors knowing is not a conflict. Andrew Thomas Kerr also owns Kerr Payroll Solutions, LLC. Kerr Payroll provides retirement administration services, bookkeeping and payroll services. It is a conflict if a recommendation for such services are made as Kerr Payroll would be compensated additional fees which would indirectly benefit Andrew Thomas Kerr.

Third Party Administrative Services / Retirement Consulting Services

Kerr Wealth Management provides qualified plan advice, establishes participant accounts through it's custodian (TD Ameritrade), provides advice to participants and plan sponsors and manages assets on a discretionary basis 3(38) or non discretionary 3(21) basis. Kerr Wealth Management manages assets for qualified plans, pension plans, SIMPLE Plans and SEP IRA's.

Kerr Wealth Management charges fees for establishing plans, educating plan sponsors and plan participants. Fees are based on our normal hourly rate of $150.00 or a fixed fee may be negotiated based on scope of work.

Kerr Wealth Management is no longer providing plan administration services, writing plan documents or filing 5500 tax returns.

Plan administrative services are now provided by Kerr Payroll Solutions, LLC.

Rollover and Transfer Recommendations

It is as conflict of interest if an advisor of Kerr Wealth Management recommends rolling over a retirement account from a 401(k), 403(b) or other qualified plan because it will result in additional fee compensation to Kerr Wealth Management. This is a conflict of interest whether or not a client has existing assets with our firm.

It is a conflict of interest if Kerr Wealth Management provides financial planning advice and also recommends transferring investment accounts, retirement accounts, 529 accounts, HSA accounts or when a Kerr Wealth Management recommends the use of insurance services or plan administrative services to a new or existing client. This is a conflict because it will result in additional fee compensation or compensation to Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. If a financial planning client voluntarily requests to transfer, rollover or purchase insurance products through Kerr Insurance Brokers, Inc. and it is not solicited or advised by Kerr Wealth Management it still creates a conflict of interest. This creates a conflict of interest because additional compensation or fees are earned which are separate to and in addition to financial planning fees.

All material conflicts of interest under California Code of Regulations Section 260.238(k) are disclosed regarding the investment adviser, its representatives or any of its employees, which could be reasonable expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

Recommendations or Selections of Other Investment Advisors and Conflicts of Interest

Material financial interest means we are part of a publicly traded companies board of directors, executive branch or direct ownership. Material financial interest does not refer to the ownership of actual publicly traded stocks.

Advisory Firm Purchase of Same Securities Recommended to Clients and Conflicts of Interest

From time to time, Kerr Wealth Management and representatives of Kerr Wealth Management may buy or sell securities for themselves that they also recommend to clients. This may provide an opportunity for Kerr Wealth Management and representatives of Kerr Wealth Management to buy or sell the same securities before or after recommending the same securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest. Kerr Wealth Management will always document any transactions that could be construed as conflicts of interest and will never engage in trading that operates to the client's disadvantage when similar securities are being bought or sold.

Client Securities Recommendations or Trades and Concurrent Advisory Firm Securities Transactions and Conflicts of Interest

From time to time, Kerr Wealth Management and representatives of Kerr Wealth Management may buy or sell securities for themselves at or around the same time as clients. This may provide an opportunity for Kerr Wealth Management and representatives of Kerr Wealth Management to buy or sell securities before or after recommending securities to clients resulting in representatives profiting off the recommendations they provide to clients. Such transactions may create a conflict of interest; however, Kerr Wealth Management will never engage in trading that operates to the client's disadvantage if representatives of Kerr Wealth Management buy or sell securities at or around the same time as clients.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Broker-Dealers for Client Transactions

Kerr Wealth Management will recommend clients to TD Ameritrade or Equity Trust Company. The client and advisor will discuss which custodian is most appropriate based upon client goals. Trade fees and other custodial fees may vary but are comparable between the two custodians. Kerr Wealth Management is not responsible for such custodian fees and do not share in any custodial fees under any circumstance.

1. Research and Other Soft-Dollar Benefits

The Securities and Exchange Commission defines soft dollar practices as arrangement under which products or services other than execution services are obtained by Kerr Wealth Management from or through a broker-dealer in exchange for directing client transactions to the broker-dealer. As permitted by Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, Kerr Wealth Management does not receive economic benefits as a result of commissions generated from securities transactions by the broker-dealer from the accounts of Kerr Wealth Management.

2. Brokerage for Client Referrals

Kerr Wealth Management receives no referrals from a broker-dealer or third party in exchange for using that broker-dealer or third party. Investment advisors who manage or supervise client portfolios have a fiduciary obligation of best execution. The determination of what may constitute best execution and price in the execution of a securities transaction by a broker involves a number of considerations and is subjective. Factors affecting brokerage selection include the overall direct net economic result to the portfolios, the efficiency with which the transaction is effected, the ability to effect the transaction where a large block is involved, the operational facilities of the broker-dealer, the value of an ongoing relationship with such broker and the financial strength and stability of the broker. The firm does not receive any portion of the trading fees.

3. Clients Directing Which Broker/Dealer/Custodian to Use

Kerr Wealth Management does not allow clients to direct brokerage.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

Schedule for Periodic Review of Client Accounts or Financial Plans and Advisory Persons Involved

A. For those clients to whom Registrant provides investment supervisory services, account reviews are conducted on an ongoing basis by the Registrant's Principal. All investment supervisory clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to advise the Registrant of any changes in their investment objectives and/or financial situation. All clients (in person or via telephone) are encouraged to review financial planning issues (to the extent applicable), investment objectives and account performance with the Registrant on an annual basis.

B. The Registrant may conduct account reviews on an other than periodic basis upon the occurrence of a triggering event, such as a change in client investment objectives and/or financial situation, market corrections and client request.

C. Clients are provided, at least quarterly, with written transaction confirmation notices and regular written summary account statements directly from the broker-dealer/custodian and/or program sponsor for the client accounts. The Registrant may also provide a written periodic report summarizing account activity and performance.

All financial planning accounts are reviewed upon financial plan creation and plan delivery. There is only one level of review for financial planning, and that is the total review conducted to create the financial plan. Should a client want periodic, regular reviews or financial advice there will be a separate hourly rate charged for such services.

Review of Client Accounts on Non-Periodic Basis

Reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events, or by changes in client's financial situations (such as retirement, termination of employment, physical move, or inheritance).

With respect to financial plans, Kerr Wealth Management's services will generally conclude upon delivery of the financial plan.

Item 15: Custody

Account Statements

- Each time a fee is directly deducted from a client account, Kerr Wealth Management concurrently:
 - i. Sends the qualified custodian an invoice or statement of the amount of the fee to be deducted from the client's account; and
 - ii. Sends the client an invoice or statement itemizing the fee. Itemization includes the formula used to calculate the fee, the value of the assets under management on which the fee is based, and the time period covered by the fee.

- Kerr Wealth Management has written authorization from the client to deduct advisory fees from the account held with the qualified custodian.
- The investment adviser notifies the Commissioner in writing that the investment adviser intends to use the safeguards provided in this paragraph (b)(3).

Clients will receive all account statements and billing invoices that are required in each jurisdiction, and they should carefully review those statements for accuracy. Statements will be generated from QuickBooks or our third party billing software and emailed or mailed to clients. Clients are responsible for viewing and verifying the accuracy of invoice statements.

Item 16: Investment Discretion
