

COURT PLACE ADVISORS LLC

Form ADV Part 3– Client Relationship Summary

June, 2020

Item 1: Introduction

Court Place Advisors, LLC (“Court Place”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment advisor and we provide investment advisory services rather than brokerage services. Investment advisory services and brokerage services and fees differ and we feel it is important for you to understand the difference between the two. There are free and simple tools available to research firms and financial professionals at www.investor.gov/CRS which also provides educational materials about investment advisors, broker-dealers and investing.

Item 2: Relationships and Services

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

Court Place offers its investment advisory services to retail investors, for an annual fee based on the value of your account. Our services include investment and portfolio management, retirement planning, estate planning, financial planning, tax planning and charitable gifting. Upon engaging us as your advisor, we will meet with you to understand your financial objectives and risk tolerance. We will then begin to build a portfolio of investments that is continually monitored to meet your needs, goals and objectives. We manage accounts on a discretionary basis, which means we have your authority to buy/sell in your account. We do not require a minimum account size. Please see our Form ADV part 2A (Brochure), Items 4, 5, 7, 13 & 16, located on our website under disclosures www.courtplaceadvisors.com.

Questions to Ask Us:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do those qualifications mean?

Item 3: Fees, Costs, Conflicts and Standard of Conduct

What fees and costs will I pay?

You are charged an annual advisory fee based on a percentage of your assets under management. This fee is charged in advance, on a quarterly basis, based on the fair market value of your account at the end of the previous quarter. We deduct fees directly from your account as stated in our Management Agreement. The amount of assets in your account affects the advisory fee. The more assets there are in your advisory account, the more you will pay in advisory fees. As a result, we may, therefore, have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account. Our fees vary and are negotiable. Please also see our Form ADV part 2A, Items 5, 7 & 8.

Other costs you may incur include: transaction fee charged by the broker-dealer (custodian) for each buy/sell in the account, and fee charged by the broker-dealer for certain investments such as exchange traded funds and/or mutual funds.

You will pay fees whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure that you understand the fees and costs you are paying.

Questions to Ask Us:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment advisor? How does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

As your investment advisor, we have a fiduciary duty to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts. Additional information about our conflicts of interest can be found in our ADV part 2A Item 11.

We earn our money from the advisory fees that we collect from your accounts each quarter. Our Investment Advisor Representatives are either paid a fixed salary as an employee, or, on a quarterly basis, a portion of the advisory fees we collect from you.

Item 4: Disciplinary History

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No, neither our firm nor our financial professionals have any legal or disciplinary history to report. You can visit www.Investor.gov/CRS for free and simple search tools to research our firm and our financial professionals.
