After years of working for other people in financial services, Robin turned her obsessive compulsion to plan into her own business. In 2017, she took her amassed experience and knowledge and created Our House Wealth Advisors, a full-service wealth management firm.

Her mission: Simple; start with the end in mind and work backwards to achieve desired results. After all, no one plans to fail, they only fail to plan.

Robin started her financial services career in 1997 as a sales assistant to a financial planner. Within a year she went on to work as an institutional account manager for a global economics research firm, helping companies worldwide navigate their institutional portfolios. After years of business travel, Robin transitioned her focus to helping financial advisors better serve their clients, working for one of the largest insurance companies in the world. In 2011, Robin moved to the Chicago area and became a financial advisor, a role which she has continued in ever since.

Coming full circle, Robin spends most of her days meeting and planning with her clients. Creating generational wealth and serving families is what Our House Wealth is all about. Our clients, both small and large are an extension of our family, and our mission is to help them succeed.

Robin works with a growing team of people, including her husband, Tony Michalek, who also moonlights as an NFL referee. When not at the office or at a game, Robin and Tony like to travel, experience new things and most of all eat! A card-carrying foodie, Robin hails from Montreal, Canada and has a weakness for French food. They have 4 kids ranging in age from 28 – 17. They live in Evergreen Park, IL with their 2 dogs, cat and high school senior.
