FORUM 400 NAMES JOHN A. ANDERSON, CLU NEW MEMBER

John A. Anderson, CLU Recognized as Top Life Insurance Producer

MORRISTOWN, NEW JERSEY – March 6, 2015 — Forum 400, an elite group of the top life insurance producers in the country, is pleased to announce that John A. Anderson, CLU has been accepted as a new member of the organization. Forum 400 membership is exclusive and by invitation-only, and to date, only 264 professionals meet the rigorous qualifying criteria.

John A. Anderson is the founder/principal of Tempewick Wealth Management in Morristown, New Jersey. His company is a boutique wealth advisory firm with over 60 years of collective experience and numerous prestigious awards/recognitions. Tempewick's professionals specialize in estate and insurance planning, business succession and wealth transfer. The firm helps its clients grow and ultimately transfer their wealth through a variety of services and in cooperation with their client's existing advisory team. John A. Anderson joins nine other members from the state of New Jersey.

"I'm thrilled to have been invited into the Forum 400 membership," said John A. Anderson. "I look forward to the open sharing of ideas with other members and am excited to be included among this distinguished group of industry leaders."

Candidates applying for membership in Forum 400 must participate in a rigorous, seven-step application process, which includes interviews, detailed background information, and nominations from existing Forum 400 members. Applicants must also qualify with a competitive minimum annual personal financial services income produced in the previous year.

"It's an exclusive membership by design," said Barbara O'Connor, Executive Director of Forum 400. "Individuals who qualify are not only incredibly successful advisors, but also embody the sharing mentality that is so central to Forum 400's mission. We believe John Anderson is an excellent addition and look forward to his/her contributions to the membership."
