

Weekly Commentary

November 20, 2017

THE MARKETS

Are investors more like tigers or African wild dogs?

It appears investors – retail and institutional – have become rather like predators. They patiently stalk shares, waiting for a dip, and then they strike – buying stocks when prices fall.

Consider last week. Barron's described it like this: “The Dow traded down nearly 80 points on Monday, 170 points on Tuesday, and 170 points on Wednesday, but each time the blue-chip benchmark finished off its lows. That was followed by the Dow’s 187-point rally on Thursday, as everyone bought the dips.”

Investors’ remarkable behavior led the publication to speculate, “What if higher volatility, instead of scaring investors away from the stock market, brings them in? In that case, this bull market could still have a long way to go.”

Buying low and selling high is a foundational principle of investing. However, it remains to be seen how successful buying dips will prove to be in a market that some believe is too highly valued.

One measure of valuation is the 12-month trailing price-to-earnings (P/E) ratio, which tracks a company’s current share price against its earnings during the previous 12 months. Last week, FactSet reported the trailing P/E ratio for the Standard & Poor’s 500 Index was 22. The five-year average is 18.2, and the 10-year average is 16.9. Some prefer to look at forward P/E ratios, which compare share price to expected future earnings. The forward P/E ratio for the Standard & Poor’s 500 Index was 18, while the five-year average is 15.7, and the 10-year average is 14.1.

Only time will tell whether investors’ dip buying will more closely resemble the hunts of tigers or those of African wild dogs. When hunting prey, tigers are successful 5 to 10 percent of the time. African wild dogs take down prey 85 percent of the time, according to BBC’s Discover Wildlife.

As always, much will depend on the investments selected.

| Data as of 11/10/17 | 1 WEEK | YTD | 1 YEAR | 3 YEAR | 5 YEAR | 10 YEAR |
|---|--------|-------|--------|--------|--------|---------|
| Standard & Poor’s 500 (Domestic Stocks) | -0.1% | 15.2% | 17.9% | 8.1% | 13.2% | 6.1% |
| Dow Jones Global ex-U.S. | -0.4 | 20.8 | 24.5 | 3.9 | 5.6 | -0.4 |
| 10-year Treasury Note (Yield Only) | 2.4 | NA | 2.3 | 2.3 | 1.6 | 4.1 |
| Gold (per ounce) | 0.0 | 10.8 | 4.7 | 2.8 | -5.8 | 5.1 |
| Bloomberg Commodity Index | -0.6 | -0.9 | 4.9 | 9-9.6 | -9.5 | -7.0 |
| DJ Equity All REIT Total Return Index | -0.6 | 9.3 | 16.2 | 8.2 | 11.0 | 7.5 |

Notes: S&P 500, DJ Global ex US, Gold, DJ-UBS Commodity Index returns exclude reinvested dividends (gold does not pay a dividend) and the three-, five-, and 10-year returns are annualized; the DJ Equity All REIT TR Index does include reinvested dividends and the three-, five-, and 10-year returns are annualized; and the 10-year Treasury Note is simply the yield at the close of the day on each of the historical time periods. Sources: Yahoo! Finance, Barron’s, djindexes.com, London Bullion Market Association. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested into directly. N/A means not applicable.

3597 Henry Street, Suite 202
Norton Shores, Michigan 49441
231.720.0743 Main
866.577.9116 Toll free

Investment advisory services offered through Braeburn Wealth Management, an SEC Registered Investment Advisor.

Michael A. Poland, CFA®
CEO & Founder
Wealth Advisor / Portfolio Manager

Melanie N. Meyer, RP
Associate Wealth Advisor
Financial Planning

Sherri L. Balaskovitz
Director of Marketing
Team Leader

Caitlyn Mow
Director of First Impressions and Client Services

IN THIS ISSUE:

- The Markets p1
- Market Statistics Table p1
- Direct-to Consumer Companies Taking Their Share in Business p2
- Weekly Focus - Think About It p2

Braeburn Wealth Mgmt. and the stock markets will be CLOSED on Thursday, November 23 and OPEN on Friday, November 24, 8 a.m to 1 p.m.

DIRECT-TO-CONSUMER COMPANIES TAKING THEIR SHARE IN BUSINESS

AND NOW FOR SOMETHING COMPLETELY DIFFERENT. Online sales aren't the only threat to traditional brick-and-mortar retailers. Direct-to-consumer (DTC – also abbreviated as D2C) companies have been implementing a brand new business model. They're skipping retailers and selling direct to consumers. Early entries in the DTC space targeted product areas dominated by big, established companies that have been enjoying high profit margins. DTC firms often are offering better price points and far superior customer service, reports Forbes.

In the future, some may remember the emergence of DTC as the onset of the razor wars. In 2010, the world's largest razor blade company had 70 percent market share in the United States. Its gross margins (sales minus the cost of the product) were as high as 60 percent, reported The Economist. Soon after, the company found itself competing with two subscription razor blade services offering no cost trials and money-back guarantees. The DTC business model proved to be attractive and the market share of the world's largest maker of razor blades has fallen to 54 percent.

Will DTC have staying power? The Economist wrote:

"...a growing number of startups are reimagining everyday household items – from pants and socks to toothbrushes and cookware. These [DTC] companies bypass conventional retailers and bring their products straight to customers via their online stores. They began several years ago to catch the attention of venture-capital (VC) firms, which have poured in more than $3bn since 2012. But the success of some [DTC] firms has attracted a lot of wannabes, making this a crowded market and leaving some wondering whether the boom has reached its limits."

While analysts ponder the viability of the new business model, the behemoths of consumer goods and retailing have begun buying DTC firms.

Consequently, we may see a steady stream of new entrants to the market.

WEEKLY FOCUS— THINK ABOUT IT

"Intelligence alone does not get us where we need to go or even necessarily where we want to go. For that, the human creature must exercise harder-won capacities of wisdom, and wise action."

*--Krista Tippett,
American journalist and author*

We hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving celebration!

P.S. Please feel free to forward this commentary to family, friends, or colleagues. If you would like us to add them to the list, please reply to this e-mail with their e-mail address and we will ask for their permission to be added. Michael A. Poland, CFA® – Financial Advisor and Portfolio Manager. Mike is a Chartered Financial Analyst with a BA from Michigan State University and an MBA from the University of St. Thomas, in St. Paul, Minnesota. Mike has been in the financial service industry since 1989. Mike's prior experience was with PaineWebber, Merrill Lynch and Lehmann Financial. Mike is a member of the CFA Society of West Michigan, and has served on the boards of The Builders Exchange of Grand Rapids and West Michigan, Mona Shores Education Foundation, and the West Michigan Symphony Orchestra. Mike lives in Norton Shores with his wife and three children.

Investment advisory services offered through Braeburn Wealth Management, an SEC Registered Independent Adviser. * These views are those of Carson Group Coaching, and not the presenting Representative or the Representative's Broker/Dealer, and should not be construed as investment advice. * This newsletter was prepared by Carson Group Coaching. Carson Group Coaching is not affiliated with the named broker/dealer. * Government bonds and Treasury Bills are guaranteed by the U.S. government as to the timely payment of principal and interest and, if held to maturity, offer a fixed rate of return and fixed principal value. However, the value of fund shares is not guaranteed and will fluctuate. * Corporate bonds are considered higher risk than government bonds but normally offer a higher yield and are subject to market, interest rate and credit risk as well as additional risks based on the quality of issuer coupon rate, price, yield, maturity, and redemption features. * The Standard & Poor's 500 (S&P 500) is an unmanaged group of securities considered to be representative of the stock market in general. You cannot invest directly in this index. * All indexes referenced are unmanaged. Unmanaged index returns do not reflect fees, expenses, or sales charges. Index performance is not indicative of the performance of any investment. * The Dow Jones Global ex-U.S. Index covers approximately 95% of the market capitalization of the 45 developed and emerging countries included in the index. * The 10-year Treasury Note represents debt owed by the United States Treasury to the public. Since the U.S. Government is seen as a risk-free borrower, investors use the 10-year Treasury Note as a benchmark for the long-term bond market. * Gold represents the afternoon gold price as reported by the London Bullion Market Association. The gold price is set twice daily by the London Gold Fixing Company at 10:30 and 15:00 and is expressed in U.S. dollars per fine troy ounce. * The Bloomberg Commodity Index is designed to be a highly liquid and diversified benchmark for the commodity futures market. The Index is composed of futures contracts on 19 physical commodities and was launched on July 14, 1998. * The DJ Equity All REIT Total Return Index measures the total return performance of the equity subcategory of the Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) industry as calculated by Dow Jones. * Yahoo! Finance is the source for any reference to the performance of an index between two specific periods. * Opinions expressed are subject to change without notice and are not intended as investment advice or to predict future performance. * Economic forecasts set forth may not develop as predicted and there can be no guarantee that strategies promoted will be successful. * Past performance does not guarantee future results. Investing involves risk, including loss of principal. * You cannot invest directly in an index. * Stock investing involves risk including loss of principal. * Consult your financial professional before making any investment decision. * To unsubscribe from the "Weekly Commentary" please reply to this e-mail with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line, or write us at Braeburn Wealth Management, 3597 Henry Street, Suite 202, Norton Shores, MI 49441.

photo by: Shaving razor with blade © Japonikus | Dreamstime