

Hey [firstname, fallback=],

Reed Financial Group has a new home online! We invite you to check out our new http://reedfinancialgroup.net website and let us know what you think. Our aim with our new site was to give clients and community members an online resource they can rely on for critical and responsible financial education.

Our new site is chock full of information for the savvy investor, from our weekly financial column 'Reed Family Finance' to upcoming events and information alerts all designed to help you keep up to date with critical financial information. We even have a financial IQ quiz to test your understanding of retirement planning and so much more!

Don't forget to leave us your thoughts on our new "Contact Us" page, or to set up a meeting and continue your journey down the road to financial success.

We hope you enjoy!
